HOLD BACK BAY MAN FOR DEATH

Robert H. Reece Charged with Manslaughter for Killing of Gloucester Boy by His Auto

Robert H. Reece of Commonwealth avenue and Hamilton, a member of the exclusive North Shore Summer colony and of several Boston clubs, was arrested by the Gloucester police today, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Alfred Lopes, a sixteen-year-old Gloucester boy, who died as the result of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile in that city last night.

Reece was taken into custody in Beverly today by members of the Gloucester police, who waited at a Beverly garage for several hours for Reece to call for a high-powered runabout that he is said to have left there earlier.

Lopes was found lying on the State highway that runs between Manchester and Gloucester, in the vicinity of Hesperus avenue, by James MacDonald, the driver of a motor bus that plies between the two places.

STOPPED ON ROAD.

Shortly after 10 o'clock MacDonald was stopped on the road by a man who stepped out from the side and said, "There's a boy who has been injured."

According to MacDonald's story, an unlighted runabout was standing by the roadside. The injured boy was put into the bus, which was driven to the Gloucester police station.

A physician was called who found the boy to be suffering from a fractured skull. Lopes died a few minutes after he had been taken to the station.

Gloucester policemen spent the early morning in scouring the surrounding country in an attempt to

Man-Eating Shark Seen Off Cape Cod Closely Pursued

A shark was seen yesterday about 100 miles from Boston when the chief officer of the incoming steamship Netherby Hall sighted the fin of a monster man-eater not far off Cape Cod.

At the time the steamship was on her way into Boston from Yokohama, and when the Netherby Hall was about entering the bay, the shark was detected almost on the surface. He was heading out of the bay at the time and shortly afterward the steamship passed a motor boat with several men on board. It was thought they were in pursuit of the shark.

The officers of the steamship had not heard of the shark scare until they arrived here.

142 RESCUED, 3 HURT IN WRECK OF HECTOR

By International News Service

Washington, July 15.—Every one of the 142 men who were on board the U. S. Collier Hector when she was destroyed off the South Carolina coast in a gale are now landed in Charleston. Three members of the Hector's crew are injured. Commandant Bryan of the Charleston Navy Yard this afternoon reported to the Navy Department the arrival at Charleston of the tug Wilmington and the lighthouse tender Cypress, the vessels that picked up the Hector's complement.

The dispatch stated that other naval vessels were in the storm that destroyed the Hecton. The Destroyer Terry and the hospital ship Relief were caught in the wind but were able to anchor near the Charleston lightship and escaped injury. They arrived in Charleston today.

Included among the survivors are sixty marines, twelve officers and the collier's crew of seventy men. They abandoned the collier when she was driven ashore nine miles off Charleston lightship after being disabled in the gale which swept the Atlantic Coast on Thursday night and Friday morning.

The Cypress and Wilmington were sent out last night and effected a remarkable rescue in view of the high wind and extraordinary roughness of the sea.

VILLA IS VICTOR AGAIN

Villa Whips Carranza Forces at Jiminez; Now Said to Have an Army of Eight Thousand Men

By WALLACE E. SMITH,
By International News Service Staff Correspondent.

El Paso, Texas, July 15.—Pancho Villa has whipped Carranza armies sent against him southeast of Jiminez and below Parral. General Ernesto Garcia, who started out bravely with 3,000 men to drive Villa across the Rio Florida, has returned to Parral and is preparing that town against a second attack.

Two trainloads of wounded Carranzistas have been taken to Chihuahua City from the Jiminez battleground. This news reached the border today along with a boast from Villa that he will take Chihuahua City inside of two months and use that scene of many revolutions as his capital.

The same reports say that Villa's army now numbers 8,000. The Villa forces are strongly entrenched in their base along the bottoms of the Rio Florida and detachments of outlaws are operating vigorously from that base.

VILLA'S AGENTS ARRIVE.

Villa's agents from the interior are arriving in El Paso to meet arms and ammunition agents and Villa's permanent representatives here display a fresh gush of prosperity that speaks well for the exchequer of the renegade leader.

The stories told by the newly arrived agents do much to explain the lack of official news from Carranza

SENATORS TO FIGHT FOR FAVORITE BILLS

Washington, July 15.—Every Senator with a legislative axe to grind put in a bid today to have it ground at this session of Congress. The Democratic steering committee's program, excluding all except "must" bills, was upset by threats of revolt and a caucus was called for tonight so as to bring the insurgents back into line.

FIRECRACKER KILLS LAWRENCE GIRL

Lawrence, July 15.—As the result of severe burns she received on July 4 while setting off fireworks, Kineda Aldoma, aged three, passed away here today. The little girl was frightfully burned about the face, head and body when a firecracker exploded prematurely in her hands.

GERMANS DRIVEN TO 3D LINE

British Capture 2,000 Prisoners in Latest Drive; Teuton Counter Attacks Break Down.

By SIDNEY B. CAVE,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, July 15.—The Germans facing the British forces on the Somme front have been driven back to their third system of defences, the War Office announced in an official report issued today.

Two thousand more German prisoners have been taken it was stated.

The English forces continue to exert powerful pressure against the German positions all the way from Hardecourt, where the British and French armies join, to Ovillers.

Violent counter attacks of the Germans in the region of the three villages taken by the English in their assaults yesterday morning, Longueval, Basentin-Le-Grand and Basentin-Le-Petit, broke down under the concentrated artillery fire of the English guns.

DRIVE GREAT SALIENT.

The Allies have now driven a great salient into the German lines which is more than ten miles wide at its base and from three to six miles deep.

The following is the text of the official statement:

"All continues to go well on the British front. At one point the enemy has been forced back to his third system of defences, which is more than four miles in the rear of his original front on the Pricourt-Mametz line.

"In the past twenty-four hours over 2,000 prisoners, including a regimental commander of the Third Guards division, have been captured. The total number of prisoners taken by the British since the battle began exceeds 10,000.

CAPTURE WAR MUNITIONS.

"There are also large quantities of war materials in our hands."

The effect of the British guns on the German defences is described as annihilating. The special correspondent of the International News Service at the front in a dispatch filed at 11 o'clock Friday night describes how in the pale moonlight the final, tremendous bombardment opened. The British shells, he says, could be seen cutting through the German wire.

Giant Shark Escapes From New Jersey Trap; Alarm Grows on Coast

This blue-nose shark, caught off Belford, New Jersey, measured 9¼ feet long. Belford is less than 10 miles from the mouth of Matawan Creek, in which a man and a boy were killed and another boy seriously mangled by a shark.

By International News Service

New York, July 15.—The shark menace, which reached its climax when a man and a boy were killed by man-eaters at Matawan, N. J., is extending northward from New Jersey along the Atlantic Coast. Long Island Sound is believed to be infested by the monsters and in addition fishermen report seeing a school of them near Stamford, Ct.

Here are the latest developments in the raids of man-eating sharks on North Atlantic coast resorts:

1—Fishermen and crews of incoming steamships report sharks in large numbers sighted in the vicinity of Atlantic coast resorts.

2—A man-eater, weighing 250 pounds, was caught and killed at Atlantic Highlands, N. J.

3—The Federal government, roused by raids on Spring Lake, Manhasset and Matawan,

ROBERT BACON IS MADE LIEUTENANT

McAllen, Tex., July 15.—The Twelfth Infantry has learned it is to have a new second lieutenant of its machine gun company. His name is Robert Bacon, and he formerly was Ambassador to France and at one time Secretary of State. He was also a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. His son, Robert, Jr., is a first lieutenant in the First Field Artillery. Therefore, in this camp, at least, the noted addition to the Twelfth will pay due respect to his son.

IRISH NATIONALIST ACCUSED IN COURT

By International News Service.

London, July 15.—L. Ginnell, an independent Irish Nationalist member of Parliament, was arraigned in Bow Street Court today, charged with obtaining entrance to the Knutsford detention barracks under false pretences, and held for further investigation. He was released on bail. Mr. Ginnell represents West Meath North in Commons.

ROBBERS CHECK CHASE WITH GUNS

Samuel A. Campbell, salesman for the Colonial Can Company at No. 120 Milk street, was held up, blackjacked and robbed of the company's payroll of $1,360 at the South Boston end of the Congress street bridge today by two young men who fired two shots to stand off pursuers, fled across the bridge to the city side and escaped in a tangle of traffic.

Campbell put up a fight to save the payroll but was threatened with revolvers, was slugged on the left ear with a blackjack and was trampled on by the thugs after he had been dropped.

At the Relief Hospital he said later:

"One of them had a blackjack, the other a gun. I was hit several times and was threatened with the revolver."

Thomas F. Sheridan of the Old South Building, fleetest of the pursuers, lost the fugitives on the Boston side of the bridge, where they ducked through a knot of teaming, which covered them from view long enough to let them get away.

SCOUR CITY FOR THIEVES.

A general alarm was sent out from police headquarters and soon the central portion of the city was being scoured for the robbers.

The best description that the injured Campbell could give of the thugs was this:

First one, eighteen years old, five feet and six inches tall, weighing about 120 pounds, dressed in light gray suit and straw hat.

Second one, about a year older than the other, same height, weighing about 135 pounds, dark complexion, straw hat.

Campbell said both were well dressed, not looking at all like desperate characters.

Campbell is fifty-one years old and lives at No. 20 Clifton street in the Cliftondale section of Saugus. He goes ou on the road for the Colonial Can Company, usually getting back to the office at No. 120 Milk street Saturday mornings.

The Company's factory is at No. 268 Pittsburgh street, South Boston. It has been Campbell's habit to visit the factory every Saturday mroning and, as a convenience to the office, he would take the payroll over. He was on this combination errand today when he was robbed.

MONEY IN BAG.

Taking a leather bag to hold the payroll money, Campbell stopped in at a bank three doors below the office and received $1,360, wrapped in a bundle. He put the bundle of cash in his bag and started over to South Boston. It is supposed that he took his usual walking route down to Atlantic avenue, along to Congress street and then directly to the bridge and across.

The police felt sure that one or both

U-LINER A MERCHANT VESSEL

By International News Service.

Washington, July 15.—Acting Secretary of State Polk today formally declared the German super-submarine Deutschland to be a merchantman and announced that the vessel now at Baltimore would be so treated by this government. The official announcement follows.

"In view of the facts of this particular case, I see no reason to declare the Deutschland a ship of war.

(Signed) "FRANK L. POLK.
"Acting Secretary of State."

Mr. Polk pointed out, however, that the Deutschland was one specific case and that no general rule was being established by his ruling. He intimated that if other German submarines of the Deutschland type arrived in American ports, each one would have to be considered separately before being accepted by this government as a merchantman.

Mr. Polk said he saw no reason why the submarine could not clear from Baltimore whenever its commander desired.

Immediate action is expected to be taken by the British and French embassies in the case now that the state department has handed down its decision.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice the British ambassador has come back to the city from Woods Hole, Mass., and it is understood he will confer with Polk solely to take up the Deutschland case.

At both embassies today it was stated that there was nothing to be said on the state department's decision.

The betting at the navy yard is 10 to 1 that the submarine succeeds in her dash to sea. The Deutschland is expected to wait until the weather is propitious and escape in the night.

It is realized that, no matter how the United States may try to keep news of the vessel's departure secret, it would be impossible to prevent the news from reaching the allies' warships. By telegraphing to Canada the time of the Deutschland's departure from Baltimore and her arrival at the entrance to the capes and by wirelessing from Canada to the waiting naval vessels, the allies have an advantage which the United States government is powerless to interfere with. Naval officers are confident the submarine will elude her enemies.

U-Boat Delayed by Method of Loading

By International News Service.

Baltimore, Md., July 15.—The German merchant submarine Deutschland will not get away from Baltimore before next week. Every effort was being made yesterday to have the submersible loaded with its cargo of nickel and rubber by tonight.

Today it was found that in order to get the large cargo aboard and lessen the weight, it would be necessary to load the rubber loose. A large force was set to work breaking the boxes from around the rubber already stored on the ship.

That the neutrality of the United States and the three-mile limit must be observed is the decision of the State Department, which, through the Navy Department, has dispatched the torpedo boat destroyer Tarbell from the coast in the vicinity of the Virginia Capes.

This resulted from information being communicated to Washington that vessels believed to be allied warships are maintaining a close watch off the capes for the submarine Deutschland, which, within a short time, will start on its return voyage to Germany. Four British patrol boats are reported to be in readiness off the capes to give chase to the undersea merchantman.

DIVERS TO WATCH CRAFT.

Simultaneously with the order, came a report from New York that the British government had employed four deep sea divers to waylay and blow up the submersible when she leaves the capes for her trip back to Germany. This report is credited to a British officer who is said to be in New York on a furlough.

The admission by immigration officials of William Frusse, a member of the crew of the Deutschland, to this country, has caused much comment and speculation. Frusse has accepted a position as supercargo with the Hamburg-American Line Company, agents of the Ocean Navigation Company of Bremen.

It is said that his entrance to the United States means that he is the official representative of the Deutschland company, and will be in charge of the imports and exports coming on other submarine merchantmen.

LOVING CUP FOR CREW.

Captain Koenig and the crew of the Deutschland will be presented with a beautiful silver loving cup at noon today. The cup is the gift of Mme. Christina Lampadius of New York, wife of a wealthy importer.

On it appears this inscription:

"Presented to the conqueror of English prestige on the seas and to the commander and crew of the Bremen merchant submarine, the Deutschland."

British Captured First U-Boat Liner

Washington, July 15.—It has just been learned here that a British crew captured the first submarine of the Deutschland type when she went out on her trial trip.

The crew is now in England, according to report. Her crew, which consisted of several scientists, expert mechanicians and sailors, is interned.

The capture was effected because of engine trouble which developed in the submarine while she was off the Irish coast. For reasons of policy this has been kept secret by the British Admiralty.

WAR SUMMARY

The British official bulletin today details their gains of yesterday. They captured Bazentin-le-Petit and Longeval, together with Trones Wood, which lies just west of Bazentin. The Germans still hold the junction of the Mametz-Morval, and the Maricourt-Longeval roads, southwest of Longeval.

The British by this advance have thrust into the German lines a salient shaped roughly like an equilateral triangle, about a mile and a half across the base—the old British line—and about a mile and three-quarters long.

The effect of this advance and of the next advance which the British will obviously attempt—to wipe out the German salient southwest of Longeval—will be to support the left flank of the French, which had hitherto been threatened. French and British lines join at Hardecourt. There the line makes a right angle, changing from a northerly course to a westerly. If the British can wipe out the German salient, they will straighten the line to a northerly course as far as Longeval, and make it possible for the French to push on toward Peronne.

The French today report an attack by the Germans along the whole front at Verdun, from the Avocourt wood on the west of the Meuse, to Damloup on the east. This is a front of about fifteen miles. The French say the German assaults were everywhere repulsed. The French official report describes the German assault in such fashion as to entitle it as one of the greatest attacks Verdun has seen since the beginning.

Evidently, therefore, the battle of Verdun is not over; and evidently again, the Germans are not too occupied in Picardy to turn their attention elsewhere.

The Belgian official report chronicles artillery fire of "the greatest intensity" at Steenstraete, but does not say which side started the firing. This may be a prelude to a new allied thrust, or it may be the opening of a German attack—which would be aimed at the important railroad junction of Poperinghe.

The Russians attribute all activity in Poland and Galicia yesterday to counter-attacks by their enemies; and the Teutons take a similar view of the situation. The only thing that can be certain is that the Russians have for some time made no territorial gains of any moment. The Russians claim 3,200 prisoners yesterday, but their prisoner-claims have long since defeated their own ends and become unconvincing by their obvious exaggeration.

The Italians report blowing the top off one of the Alps. Otherwise there was no great activity in that arena.

DRIVE GERMANS BACK TO THE THIRD LINE

and great flashes, giving the impression of a river of flame, miles long. A fiery stream coursed its way through the German ditches.

Just as dawn was breaking over the German battlements, the first British troops were sent forward to the attack. The artillery screen lifted, taking them under its protection, and the second series of German trenches was under its fire. The British swept across the shattered furrows that had been the first line, and as they advanced on the second line, the artillery curtain again lifted, and the guns came forward. And so it continued throughout the day.

One of the first results of the British charge was the complete reoccupation of the Trones wood and the rescue of a gallant little detachment of the Royal West Kents who for forty-eight hours, without food or drink, had held out against masses of Germans in the northern part of the forest. They had been cut off during a German counter attack two days before.

Germans Admit Line Pierced at Pozieres

By International News Service.

Berlin, July 15.—The British attack launched north of the Somme at dawn on Friday, has been stemmed, the German War Office states in its official report today. However, it is admitted that the British penetrated the German lines at Pozieres and succeeded in occupying the woods.

Pozieres lies north of Contalmaison, where the Albert-Bapaume highway is intersected by the road running to a southeasterly direction from Thiepval.

Trones woods is about two miles west of Combles.

On the eastern front the Russians attacked the forces of Field Marshal von Hindenburg on the Dvinsk front, the War Office stated, but were repulsed. Farther south Prince Leopold of Bavaria, recaptured positions at Skrobowa, taking 1,500 prisoners.

AUSTRIAN MOVE FOR PEACE DENIED

By International News Service.

London, July 15.—Positive announcement was made to the International News Service today by the Foreign Office that there is no truth in the report that Austria-Hungary is ready to negotiate a separate peace. Regarding the indemnity terms acceptable by the allies in the event Austria should make peace overtures there is nothing to suggest a consideration of such terms in any sense.

'BASTILE DAY' FETE BY FRENCH TROOPS

Salonica, July 15.—Friday's operations along the Macedonian front were confined to infantry reconnoissances and feeble artillery duels, it was announced at the allies' headquarters today. The French troops in field and barracks celebrated "Bastile day," the British forces also participating.

SLAVS REPULSE TEUTONS ON STOKHOD

By International News Service.

London, July 15.—The repulse of heavy Teutonic counter attacks along the Stokhod, Northeast of Kovel, and a decrease in the intensity of the battle in progress West of the river Stripa, are the features of the official report from Petrograd.

In an effort to clear Russians from the left bank of the Stokhod river the Germans launched a fierce attack near Stobychwa. This blow, struck after an intense bombarment of the Russian positions, was repulsed.

German advance guards also were put to flight in a brush with Russian troops on the Stakhovitsy farm, Southeast of Lake Narocz.

SLAVS CAPTURE 3,200.

Vienna admits officially that the Russians succeeded in penetrating the Austrian positions Northwest of Buczacz, along the Stripa, but asserts they were driven out by a quickly launched counter attack.

Petrograd claims that in these attacks along the Stripa the Russians captured 3,200 men, two cannon and fifteen machine guns.

Berlin reports a successful counter attack north of the marny-Kovel railway which checked the Russian advance in that sector and resulted in the capture of 180 men and two machine guns.

On the left bank of the Stokhod, near the villages of Zaretchia, south of Sokolowka, the Germans, under cover of artillery fire, took the offensive, but were driven back to their trenches.

GERMANS BOMB LUTSK.

German aeroplanes dropped bombs on Lutsk and on the station of Kivertsi, northeast of Lutsk. In the region to the west of the Stripa the fighting of the 22nd has lessened appreciably.

The Austrian troops are now reported as having occupied their old position on the heights west of the river Dobkva.

West and northwest of Buczacz they retained two attacks on a broad front. During the third assault the Russians penetrated the Austrian positions northwest of Buczacz, but were ejected in bitter hand fighting.

North of the Marny Kovel railway the Russians gained a footing on the left bank of the Stokhod, but a surprise attack were driven back.

SOUVILLE ATTACK BY GERMANS DENIED

By International News Service.

London, July 15.—The government press bureau today issued the following:

"Contrary to the statements in the German communique of yesterday, no French attack was delivered yesterday in the neighborhood of Souville fort."

Souville fort is one of the defenses of Verdun. The Germans yesterday announced they had repulsed a French attack in that region.

of the thugs was thoroughly familiar with Campbell's Saturday payroll trips. The police said that a former employe of the Colonial Can Company may have been concerned.

Between the South Boston end of the bridge and the corner of Pittsburg street, Campbell was held up. He was badly pummelled before he lost his hold on the payroll bag. His left ear was bruised and cut by a stunning clip from a blackjack. His arms and side were bruised when he was trampled on after he fell.

Frat report said that the assailants shot at Campbell, but later accounts said that the two shots which were fired were used by the fugitives to keep pursuers back.

REPEAT KITCHENER MEMORIAL SERVICE

The service in memory of Earl Kitchener will be repeated in St. Paul's Cathedral tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. Hundreds of people were turned away from the service last Sunday night and a great number of requests have been made for its repetition.

Tonight all the seating capacity of the Cathedral will be at the disposal of the public, no seats being reserved for organizations as was the case last Sunday. The service will be similar to the great national memorial held in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, at which the King and Queen, the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Bishop of London were present. Kitchener's favorite hymn "Abide With Me," "Nearer with "For All the Saints," and "God Save the King," will be sung. The dead march in Saul will be played, the congregation standing, and the "Last Post" will be sounded on the bugle, as was done in London.

A printed order of service will be provided containing a portrait of Kitchener and of St. Paul's Cathedral, Boston.

Rev. Edward T. Sullivan of Trinity Church, Newton Centre, will repeat the address on "Kitchener; Britain's Man of the Hour." The service will be preceded by the singing of hymns on the Cathedral porch at 7:15 o'clock.

WARD CHARGES IN SALEM DISMISSED

Charges against seven men arrested in Salem, July 5, in connection with the death of Margaret Wasel of Peabody, were dismissed in the Salem District court, jurisdiction in the case having been transferred to Suffolk County, where five of the seven were recently indicted by the Grand Jury.

The defendants, who were represented by Attorney James J. Ronan, were Thomas Dexter of Peabody, County Grand Jury were the two O'Connells, Dr. Thomas Dexter and Dr. Preston. All were arraigned in Boston, pleaded not guilty and were released in heavy bail. Six other defendants were returned in the case at the same time.

NEW GERMAN PLAN TO MOVE FOR PEACE

By International News Service.

Copenhagen, July 15.—Correspondents of Danish newspapers in Berlin state that peace efforts in Germany are increasing in strength daily. They telegraphed today that a new national committee had been formed to spread the peace propaganda throughout the entire country and that its work was being unhampered by the officials.

The committee declares, the correspondents cabled today, that the sole object was honorable peace. The first steps in this new movement will be concluded by August 1 and from that time public meetings will be held everywhere.

These meetings will be directed by local organizations working under the instructions of the national committee.

WOMAN IN COURT FOR AUTO DEATH

Mrs. Emily P. Stevens, thirty-two, of No. 145 Hawthorn street, Malden, was in Chelsea court charged with manslaughter in causing the death of Frances Hurley, eight, of No. 29 Hawthorn street, Malden, on July 13 on Revere boulevard. Mrs. Stevens pleaded not guilty and was held in $1,000, her case continued till July 25. Mrs. Stevens, who was driving her auto on the boulevard, knocked down the little girl, causing injuries which caused her death.

BRITISH STEAMER JUNIN IS AGROUND

Norfolk, Va., July 15.—The British steamship Junin, 2,894 tons, which sailed from Galveston for France on May 5, is aground near Cape Henry. The coast guard cutter Onondaga and several tugs went to her assistance this morning. The Junin was said to be resting on an even keel and in little danger.

HACKETT SUED BY BOSTON WOMAN

New York, July 15.—Mrs. Rita Collier Wellington of Boston and Lisbon, N. H., has sued James K. Hackett in the Supreme Court for an accounting for $2,200, which she says she advanced to the actor in 1910 for the production of "Beaucaire."

Policemen 'Rob' Store as Lesson to Proprietors

Two policemen from Court square station bodily entered Smith & McCance's bookstore at No. 2 Park street early today and cleaned out the cash register, taking $10.59.

Extraordinary as this may seem, the facts in the case are admitted and the names of the policemen are known. One is a sergeant, the other a patrolman.

The known facts of the case are these: Some time after midnight Sergeant Clifford and Patrolman Andrews slipped quietly into the Old Granary burying ground, next to Park Street Church. They stole across to the rear of stores fronting on the lower end of Park street. They tried several windows, finding three or four which were unfastened.

One, which was the easiest to open, was at the rear of the book store. The officers, working quietly, entered the store, made their way to the cash register and quickly stripped it of the money.

Then they slipped out. Patrolman Andrews resumed his beat. Sergeant Clifford returned to his station house with the $10.59.

About 7:30, when the book store would be opened for the day, a patrolman was sent to the store to notify the proprietors or clerks that the place had been entered and money taken and that the money was waiting at the station for the owners.

It was all done as a warning and a demonstration to Park street proprietors to be careful about those rear windows opening on the burying ground, pleasantly accessible to real thieves.

A few months ago some stores there were entered. The police figured they would give the lesson this time.

SHARK ESCAPES FROM TRAP IN JERSEY CREEK

N. J., plans wide-spread shark hunt to protect bathers.

4—Body of Lester Stillwell, killed by man-eater at Matawan, is recovered, badly mangled.

5—Several New Jersey fishermen report battles with shark caught in fishing nets.

CUTTER TO AID IN HUNT.

The shark menace was formally discussed at a Cabinet meeting in Washington. A cutter probably will be detailed to co-operate with the coast guards in diminishing the number and species of the killers. Active warfare against sharks will be instituted. Meantime bathers are warned to keep to shallow water.

The United States bureau of fisheries admitted that it could offer any scientific explanation for the recent attacks of the sharks on man-eaters in Northern waters.

In Jersey coast resorts the shark panic was heightened by the finding of the mangled body of twelve-year-old Lester Stillwell about 200 feet from the scene of his death.

Young Stillwell's body will be buried today as will the body of W. Stanley Fisher, second victim of the man-eater's raid on Matawan creek.

TRAPPED SHARK ESCAPES.

Last night a giant shark darted out of Matawan creek, and headed toward Keyport and Highlands. The man-eating fish broke through the chicken wire stretched across the creek mouth by the harbor police and made of so much cardboard. Reports that the fish was seen near Keyport and another shark passed there earlier in the night.

Bean Hopkins, a Keyport fisherman, sighted the monster which slipped into Raritan Bay from Matawan creek. He said it appeared to be about ten feet long.

The Paterson, N. J., Chamber of Commerce today authorized the placing of a bounty on sharks ranging from $2 for a two-hundred-pound fish to $25 for a five-hundred-pounder.

Numbers of sharks were reported from Baltimore far up the Atlantic seaboard by fishermen, and Philadelphia authorities report finding a human foot in a shoe, believed to have been amputated by a shark.

Shark Victim Well Known in Brockton

Brockton, July 15.—W. Stanley Fisher, who was killed by a shark at Matawan, N. J., while trying to save the life of Lester Stillwell, his twelve-year-old companion, had relatives in Brockton and had visited here on many occasions. His uncle, Charles E. Fisher, lives on Court street, and the young man spent two weeks in Brockton last Summer.

BACK BAY MAN IS HELD FOR AUTO DEATH

locate the car that is alleged to have caused the injury.

A search of the Magnolia garages proved unproductive and some hours following the accident it was learned that a car answering the description of the runabout seen by Macdonald had been held up in Manchester because it carried no lights.

RUNABOUT FOUND.

At the Woodbury garage the runabout which is said to belong to Reece was found. There, it was learned that two men had driven up at 1 o'clock in the morning, left the car and engaged another machine to take them to Boston.

Reece returned to the garage for his car between 4 and 7 o'clock today. He admitted to the police that he had been held up because of having unlighted lamps, but denied that he was in Gloucester. He said he had been in Magnolia in the early evening and had dinner at the North Shore Grill.

He gave no explanation to the police as to the whereabouts of the car which was hired at the garage.

CONFLICTING STORIES.

That Reece had a companion when he was held up in Manchester, and later when he left the car at the garage, is admitted by him. Conflicting stories are told as to the identity of the companion. Reece is said to have told the police that the friend was a man he met by the name of Lindsley.

The boy received his injury when within sight of his home. He had been to make a call on Alec Troy on Magnolia avenue within a few minutes' walk of his own home on the Cape. Five minutes elapsed from the time of his leaving the Troy home until he was struck. When the boy was first seen by MacDonald he was lying with his head on a blanket and his feet in the gutter. A number of broken tonics bottles was found close to where the boy was found.

headquarters as to the outcome of the fighting around Jiminez and Parral. Mexican officials do not clutter up their records with reports of defeats. They find it much more convenient to forget the defeated army.

The Villa representatives laugh energetically when one mentions that the United States and Carranza are peacefully arranging for a joint conference for the settlement of all international difficulties.

"You can't settle Pancho Villa with a joint commission," they say. "Let the United States give Carranza all the favors it wishes. Carranza is through. Pancho Villa is the real power in Mexico and he will be its ruler."

NORTH OF CHIHUAHUA.

One of the Villa detachments is reported operating in the Laguna district. This is north of Chihuahua.

The arrival of Villa agents here means only that they are interested in work of getting arms and ammunition to their leader. Already it is known that a large quantity of rifles and machine guns and great quantities of ammunition have been slipped over the boundary line.

There is a report here that a carload containing 1,500,000 rounds of rifle ammunition has been slipped in the last forty-eight hours and that this either has been carried across the border or is about to be. Secret Service representatives of the United States are redoubling their vigilance in watching for the smugglers and the government line riders hit the trail along the border with their rifles ready.

But always in this land the ammunition finds its way across the line and there seems to be no doubt at this time that bands of rebels are dealing their chosen work. Men who have been known to lead the smuggling bands—many of them sleek, diamond-bedecked men from back east—are stopping at the best hotels here and are mingling jovially with the folks of the town.

U-BOAT TO ARREST THEM.

That is their way. The government agents know all of them, but because of the devious ways of the smugglers cannot "get the goods on them" sufficiently to cause arrests.

General Trevino is now sending protestations of great friendliness for Carranza to the border, but it is pointed out that no substantial proof of his devotion might be supplied by driving out the Villistas in the Laguna region.

As to Trevino's statement that he is only awaiting the arrival of General Enriquez to clean up the Chihuahua command the observers here point out again that Enriquez still is among the missing. Enriquez, it will be remembered, was sent from Mexico City to Chihuahua City to take the personal command away from General Trevino and his brother.

Reports along the line he disappeared and had not reappeared up to today. He is more than ten days overdue.

May Hold Conference in Costa Rica.

By International News Service.

Mexico City, July 15.—To reach a solution of the difficulties between the United States and Mexico, representatives of both republics will confer on neutral territory. It was announced today that a settlement satisfactory to both sides was expected by the Mexican de facto government.

Senor Juan Nefalt Amador, subsecretary of foreign relations, stated today that Costa Rica had been suggested as the country in which the peace conference should be held. The suggestion was the first step toward mediation when the relations between Mexico and the United States became acute.

Senor Amador today discussed the final note sent out by Mexico City. He admitted the government was pussing through extreme difficulties.

"The policy of the allies," he said, "is the greed of commercial houses who took advantage of the struggles to depreciate wilfully the new issue of money for their own personal gain. Not only foreign, but domestic merchants were responsible for the drastic measures found necessary to control commercial brigandage.

SHOOT AT BAY STATE PICKETS

El Paso, July 15.—Conditions were so grave at the Great West Gas House, near Eucalleptus street, that outposts from F Company of the Fifth Regiment, Captain Sydney E. Brown of Waltham, were obliged to call for reinforcements.

Mexicans armed and in uniform threw stones at the guardsmen from Waltham, called them names, and gathered in such numbers that Americans living in the neighborhood were alarmed.

Regimental outposts and one of the border patrol were also fired on at what is known as the "stock yards" on the right flank of Camp Cotten. The shots went high and no one was injured, but the intention was unmistakable.

The shooting took place about 7:30 in the morning, when S. E. Beckett, a customs line rider employed by the government to prevent smuggling, had just started out on his day's work of patrolling the border. Beckett was riding his horse along boundary line only a few hundred feet from where Mexican sentries were known to be posted. Suddenly a bullet whistled a few feet above his head, followed by another still farther away.

He dismounted, and, taking his rifle, sought cover, after turning his horse loose. Beckett worked his way to an outpost in charge of First Sergeant Royal W. Burgin of F Company of the Fifth. With the sergeant were Privates C. H. Wilson, Daniel Claskey and Michael J. Lally. They also had heard the shots, and for a long time they attempted to locate the men who fired them, but without success.

Colonel Willis Stover was notified and made a personal investigation with his staff. Captain Sidney E. Brown of F Company climbed to the roofs of freight cars the better to spy out the sniper. They met with no success, however. F Company later left for the International Bridge, where they began doing guard duty, relieving a company of regulars.

WARN CHAUFFEUR OF DANGER.

At the Gas House post, the danger was so threatening that the men of households in the vicinity came out armed. A Texas ranger asked the chauffeur who drove me to the scene to extinguish the headlights on our auto.

"There's a bunch of them within fifty yards of us" said the ranger, rifle on shoulder. "I've just been making a detour. They have been gathering here for the last two days.

"Twenty of them appeared today. Many of them were mounted. They are armed and may be either Carranistas or Villistas. They're crouched behind bushes. They are not hovering around here for any good purposes.

"Be on the alert. Better douse those headlights. There are too many of them within fifty yards to have such targets.

"This is a nasty spot. No river at this point. It's a strip of land that both countries have been scrapping over for years."

Mrs. Kate Long and Mrs. Yonkers, whose homes stood near, were in the excited group in the road. Their husbands clapped hip pockets to show that they were "heeled."

Mr. Long said: "Mexican soldiers have been gathering at this point in such numbers for the past few days that my wife and the other women folks have been frightened. It is a bad place here."

The cossack outposts from F Company were in charge of Lieutenant James I. Mc Searry, H Company, Malden, specially detailed.

Two outposts fared worse. From early evening the Mexicans were insulting and menacing. This post was in charge of Corporal Hanson and was made up of Privates Stanley Nichols, Albert Cunningham, Henry Hayes, Perry Burns and Forrest McCleve.

No. 1 Post consisted of Sergeant McFadden and Privates Joseph J. Egan, Edward Mullowney, William Gillis and Thomas Connolly.

When the Texas ranger returned and reported so many of the Mexicans lurking within a stone's throw, a hurry call was telephoned to brigade headquarters.

RUSH REINFORCEMENTS.

In short order, Sergeant Peter Cunningham arrived by automobile with ten more men from Company F. The situation was tense for a spell. It was a study to see the faces of the Waltham lads in the light of pocket and auto lamps.

For a time nobody could tell what might happen, but the night dragged through without more trouble. Almost simultaneously with the call for reinforcements from the Gas House, which is two miles from the centre of the city, General Sweetser received word from General Bell that a railroad agent had notified him that there was trouble on the train bearing five officers and 510 recruits from Framingham.

General Sweetser notified Colonel Graves, as all the "rookies" on the first train are to be assigned to the Eighth Regiment now here. Colonel Graves sent a dozen officers on a train to the freight yards where the "rookie" special rolled in at 10:05 last night.

Recruits in one of the coaches had caused trouble the greater part of the journey. Seven of them were sergeants in a Worcester car. Word of the fracas had come last evening from Amoskeag, New Hampshire. Therefore the arrival of the first body of "rookies" was a surprise.

The recruit train that arrived last night left Framingham at 9:40 Monday morning. The journey lasted five days. The rookies traveled in day coaches until they reached a point fifty miles east of Buffalo, when they were provided with tourist coaches. Several recruits left the train at Albany as City without permission and that started friction.

Captain Porter R. Chase of the First Corps Cadets was in command. Under him were Captain H. Stanley Cushing, C. A. C., Captain J. F. Coupal, Medical Corps of the Eighth Regiment; First Lieutenant E. M. Bbrush, First Corps Cadets and Second Lieutenant H. C. Hobbs, Eighth Medical Corps. The train consisted of nineteen cars. The rookies were not permitted to detrain until 6 a. m. today.

EIGHTH CALLED TO SUPPORT FIFTH

By HARRY A. BENWELL.

El Paso, July 15—Eighth Regiment Camp.—Mexican activity on the stock yards side of the camp, where the Fifth Regiment was located, drew out the guard of the Eighth Massachusetts as support. For a time it was feared that shots would be exchanged.

A short time later signals were noted being exchanged from a point about half-way up Mount Franklin, on the west side of the camp, to some place across the Mexican border.

Major Frank S. Millet, in command of the First Battalion of the Eighth, which had the outpost duty, kept the guard commanded by Lieutenant Kearney of H Company on the border all night, but there was no clash. It was reported that a number of armed Mexicans had gathered near the stock yards, but their weapons were not in evidence. They were said to have thrown stones, but this was not verified by Major Elliot.

A COMPANY GUARDS ISLAND.

A Company, Captain Thomas F. Brown, had the outposts at the "Island," a particularly important spot, where a regular sergeant was shot by Mexicans some time ago.

Captain James F. Walsh, ordnance officer attached to the staff of General Pershing, was a visitor at the Eighth today. He was accompanied by Captain Cavanagh, a line officer of Tenth Cavalry, detailed to Captain Walsh's department. The two officers came up from General Pershing's base and remained but a short time. Captain Walsh is an Allston boy, an old friend of Captain Brown's, and well acquainted with the other officers of the regiment.

The officers' mess, in charge of Lieutenant H. R. Dillingham, was started today. Quartermaster Sergeant Edward B. Hoyt has been appointed steward.

NEEDS CYCLE AND SIDE CAR.

Major I. W. Cutter of the hospital corps is sadly in need of a motorcycle with a side car attachment. He has no method of getting around the camp other than walking or riding a horse, and would be duly appreciative if friends of the regiment in Boston would donate a motorcycle.

Fifty pairs of hose were received by Captain Brown of A Company for his men from the P. Stearns Davis Corps, No. 66, Woman's Relief Corps. The hose will be appreciated, despite the fact that the full equipment of the regiment arrived today. It has been a long time coming, and some of the men, in fact, a large number, have had no choice but underwear or stockings since they left home.

The Mexicans were repairing the tracks and showed their good will to the "Grimroes" by cheering and waving their hands. An Indian, who said he belonged in Flag Ugly Gulch, paid his respects to Captain Stewart.

"Our State knows how to do things," said a Minnesotan.

While waiting at a siding an empty troop train came along. This piece of information appeared on many of the cars:

"We are starving, all handouts thankfully received. We are the boys from Chester, Pa."

The boys of the Second Massachusetts Regiment and the Minnesota command passed compliments about the hunger of the Pennsylvania boys, and promised to give them some handouts if they meet at the border.

AVERT ACCIDENT.

A serious disaster was avoided on the train yesterday when train hands discovered a loose bolt in one of the forward cars. If the train was going fast, the rear cars might have turned turtle down an embankment.

ROOKIES OF 2ND ARRIVE AT BORDER

By THOMAS FRANCIS PHELAN.

Fort Worth, Tex., July 15. Aboard Bay State Recruits' Troop Train.—This section of the "Rookie Special," with new men aboard for the Second Regiment, was scheduled to arrive in El Paso late tonight, one whole day after the other sections of the special, which started after we did.

The recruits are more contented today, as a result of a good night's rest, due to the attachment of fourteen Pullman sleeping cars at Parsons, Mo., Thursday at midnight. They got their first impression of real Mexicans, wearing broad brimmed sombreros, in Crowther, Okla.

The Mexicans were repairing the tracks and showed their good will to the "Grimroes" by cheering and waving their hands. An Indian, who said he belonged in Flag Ugly Gulch, paid his respects to Captain Stewart.

NAVAL MILITIA OFF TODAY FOR MANOEUVRES

The Massachusetts Naval Militia leaves today on the practice cruise, with the naval militia of the Eastern States in Block Island Sound, under the direction of Rear Admiral Helm.

The two battleships assigned to them are the Kearsarge and the Virginia, on both of which will be detachments of the Massachusetts citizen-sailors. The Virginia will also have Connecticut, Maine and Rhode Island militiamen on board during the cruise, which will continue through July 29.

The other seven reserve battleships assigned to the cruise leave New York, Philadelphia or Norfolk this morning, and the fleet will rendezvous at Block Island Monday morning. Each battleship will have 60 per cent. militiamen and 40 per cent. enlisted men.

Captain William R. Edgar will have 500 men aboard the Kearsarge, of which Commander Gelm, U. S. N., will be in command. Lieutenant W. E. Hilod will command the Massachusetts detachment of 170 aboard the Virginia. The First Marine Company, Captain Walter A. Powers, will be aboard the Kearsarge.

Careful study has been given to the arrangements by naval officials in order that the militiamen for the first time may be instructed under actual war conditions. The total number of militiamen participating in the battleship course will be approximately 270 officers and 4,200 men.

PHYSICAL TEST FOR SECOND

By WILLARD H. DAVIS.

Columbus, N. M., July 15.—The entire Second Regiment of Massachusetts, under command of Colonel William Hayes, is to undergo another physical examination. Two telegrams, one from Lieutenant-Colonel Buck, U. S. A., who was the chief mustering-in officer at Framingham on the night of June 26th, the other from Major Hall, connected with the surgeon-general's office at the State House, were received today by Major Farnsworth, U. S. A., camp commander, recommending another physical examination of the men.

Major Hall was the chief medical officer who had charge of the examination of the men the night before the regiment left for the border. The telegrams were in response to wires sent them by Major Farnsworth, who, at the request of General Funston, commander of the Department of the South, wired to ascertain certain facts as to the physical status of the men from Massachusetts.

There is much speculation in camp tonight just how many men Colonel Hayes will lose. Major Ernest Oates, surgeon of the regiment, and senior surgeon of the State says not a man. He contends that the men are in perfect condition and that he feels confident that another physical examination will not in any way be detrimental to the Second Regiment.

Some of the officers, however, feel different. They feel that it is natural to assume that many men will be dropped on account of physical ailments. The examination has been ordered, it is understood, in order to reduce as much as possible the pension lists. Just who will conduct the examination is not known.

The order, however, has caused considerable comment in and about the Second's camp, and there is much speculation as to just what the outcome will be. In the meantime, the camp is the scene of much activity today to welcome the recruits.

A rousing reception has been planned and the Second Regiment bandsmen have been blowing themselves red in the face, rehearsing a good march tune for escort to the "rookies."

Cheering News For Kidney Sufferers

EVERY kidney sufferer in Greater Boston will find good news below in the names, addresses and statements of six persons, living right here at home, who have found relief. The one fact alone that dozens of Greater Boston folks publicly praise Doan's Kidney Pills in these columns is proof enough that Doan's are worth trying. These friends do it merely for the sake of helping other sufferers. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys and resulting troubles, such as dull, throbbing backache, sharp pains when stooping or lifting, lameness in the morning, with dizzy spells, sick headache, nervousness, urinary disorders, loss of weight, etc. If suffering get a box today.

Greater Boston Cases Show What Doan's Do

Plumer St. (Everett).

A. F. Waltz, city fireman, 17 Plumer St., says: "Exposure and over-exertion at times causes weakness of my back and kidneys. When I have felt my kidneys out of order and acting sluggishly, I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and have received the best of results, finding entire relief." (Statement given July 10, 1913.)

On March 23, 1916, Mr. Waltz said: "Doan's Kidney Pills have made a lasting cure."

Washington Street.

Mrs. Bessie McIntire, 935 Washington St., says: "About two years ago I was suffering from my back, caused by weak kidneys. I could not bend but what sharp pains darted through the small of my back. I felt drowsy and languid. I took many medicines, but none of them did me any good until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Rikerjaynes' Drug Co. They soon helped me, so I kept on using them and four boxes cured me."

Willis Ave. (Dorchester).

W. H. Williams, retired traveling man, 23 Willis Ave., says: "Probably from my work as a traveling man my kidneys were affected. My bladder and kidneys were inflamed and it was hard to control the action of my kidneys. I also had constant twinges of rheumatism. The kidney secretions burned in passage. Each time I have used Doan's Kidney Pills, they have checked this trouble and given me much relief."

E. Emerson St. (S. Boston).

Mrs. Hugo Gottlich, 28 E. Emerson St., says: "For years I suffered from kidney trouble. Often my back was so lame I could not straighten without having sharp twinges across my loins that made me cry out with pain. At night my rest was disturbed and I got up in the morning very nervous. Nothing helped me until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They brought me instant relief."

Columbia Terrace (Camb.).

J. P. Mathews, traveling salesman, 10 Columbia Terrace, says: "At times I have been bothered by a too frequent action of my kidneys, especially at night, when I have had to get up frequently. The kidney secretions also contained sediment and pained in passage. Dull pains across the small of my back bothered me, too. On these occasions I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and one box has never failed to drive away the trouble."

Saratoga St. (E. Boston).

Mrs. J. D. Van Wart, 23 Saratoga St., says: "I suffered terribly for many years from my kidneys. My back was always aching and often was so stiff and sore that I could hardly bend one way or the other. I had such pains through my back that I was in bed for four months. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage and the action of my kidneys made me very nervous. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."

SOUTH BOSTON YOUTH SLAIN ON BOAT

John P. Doherty, nineteen, of No. 148 Third street, South Boston, was murdered upon a Hudson River boat last Monday night and his body thrown into the water, according to dispatches today from Poughkeepsie.

Doherty's body was found floating in the river off Staatsburg. No motive for his murder has been suggested, nor has anyone been arrested. Coroner Grube of Rhinebeck has charge of the body and ordered an autopsy.

Mrs. Bridget Doherty, the boy's mother, told the police of Station 6, South Boston today, that there was no doubt the dead young man was her son. She said the description forwarded to the South Boston police answered the description of her boy.

"His father has been working in Maine for two months," she said.

"My boy left home July 5 with some other boys to go to New York to work. I have not heard from him since."

Following the finding of the body, Dutchess County, N. Y., officials formed the theory that he was murdered on the Hudson River boat Monday night, and began to work on that angle of the case.

In Doherty's pockets, when his body was found, were his birth certificate, a ticket for deck passage on the Hudson Navigation Company's steamers, and a contract issued by the International Labor Agency, Inwood, New York, showing that under the name of Carl Johnson he was hired as Monday to work for the Witherbee Sherman Company, owners of iron mines in Mineville, N. Y.

MUST NEVER AGAIN SMILE AT A GIRL

New York, July 15.—Magistrate Krotel pronounced what frequenters at the Men's Night Court called the severest sentence ever inflicted in that tribunal. Dora Rullnowitz, thirteen, was the complainant against Philip Levine, eighteen. The girl said she boarded a downtown "L" train, and that Levine, who was three bodies behind her, leaned over the back of her seat, smiled at her and blew smoke in her face. Magistrate Krotel turned to Levine. "Young man," he said, "I sentence you never to smile at or flirt with any girl in New York city as long as you live."

EVICTS FAMILY OF PRIVATE IN FIFTH

Superintendent F. W. Morey of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association reports that a woman and her six children were turned into the street in Gleasondale by the employers of her soldier husband, who is serving on the Mexican border.

The house is owned by a certain woolen manufacturing concern with mills in Gleasondale. George W. Taylor, Spanish War veteran, and member of Company M of the Fifth Regiment, had been in the employ of the woolen mills for twenty years, and when he left for the front the company owed him $28.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 15.—Another millionaire baby arrived here this week at the $1,000,000 home of the widow of Charles G. Gates, who now is Mrs. Harold Lee Judd.

Mrs. Judd will start her young son with a golden spoon in his mouth, as it is understood that she will place to his account $1,000,000 of her former husband's money.

"LITTLE NAVY" MEN TO FIGHT ON BILL

By International News Service.

Washington, July 15.—Lines were drawn today for a fight in the House which threatens to delay, and possibly to jeopardize, final passage of the $315,000,000 naval bill now before the Senate. "Little navy" members of the House, led by Representatives Hensley of Missouri and Bailey of Pennsylvania, declared today that they had organized strong opposition to the naval expenditures. They asserted they would force the House to reject the eight battleship authorization and the three-year naval building program proposed by the Senate.

As the naval bill originally passed the House it provided for five battle cruisers to be built this year, with no continuing program, and carried about $260,000,000. The Senate Naval Committee has added three capital ships and increased the total of the bill to $315,000,000.

When the bill comes back to the House the "little navy" group plans to put the House on record at once as flatly opposed to all the Senate increases. The "little navy" leaders declared they would have a strong following among Democratic leaders. They declared Majority Leader Kitchin would oppose the increases on the ground that the recently passed revenue bill would not provide funds for such large expenditures.

44TH ARSON TRUST SUSPECT ARRESTED

Oscar Green of Chelsea street, charged with complicity in the activities of the so-called arson trust, has been brought to this city from Portland by Police Inspector Lynch and State Officer Sherlock. He is the forty-fourth man to be arrested through police investigation of the alleged arson band. He is charged with setting fire at different times to buildings on Beach street, Revere, with intent to defraud insurance companies.

24 MORE DEATHS IN NEW YORK BABY PLAGUE

New York, July 15.—One hundred and forty-four new cases of infantile paralysis were reported by the health department today, making a total of 1,843 cases since the epidemic started.

At the same time twenty-seven more deaths were recorded, increasing the total of fatalities to 369.

The period during which these new cases developed and the additional deaths occurred was the forty-four hours from 10 a. m. Friday to the same hour today.

Today's figures on cases and deaths were lower than those of yesterday, the record dwindling by eighteen and the deaths by four.

Field Inspectors who are fighting the epidemic in the Metropolitan district today found themselves attacked. Residents of the Fort Green section of Brooklyn advanced the theory that the Health Department inspectors were spreading the germs of the disease.

PROTEST BY PEOPLE.

Acting on this theory they selected a committee to file a protest with the Board of Health. The Fort Green section is in the heart of Brooklyn and is built up largely with first-class apartment houses.

Until the health department began its city wide crusade of inspection, not a case of infantile paralysis had been reported there. Inspectors visited the apartment building of the district last Monday and on Thursday a case of infantile paralysis was found in an apartment building at Myrtle avenue and Cumberland street. Another case was reported yesterday from the apartment house at No. 99 Carlton avenue, and three suspected cases were reported in the district today.

Commissioner Emerson said:

"It is the history of all such epidemics that figures are irregular from day to day. The increase in the number of reported cases is due partly to the increased information which has come from closer inspection of all districts."

STUDY NEW CURE.

Commissioner Emerson made several statements regarding the speech before the Academy of Medicine of Dr. M. J. Meltzer of the Rockefeller Institute. Dr. Meltzer on the basis of extensive experimentation on monkeys, recommended the injection of adrenalin intra-spinally in every case of infantile paralysis.

"The medical importance of Dr. Meltzer's contribution was not as great as the space it occupied in the newspapers would indicate," declared Dr. Emerson. "Adrenalin is not a specific such as quinine in malaria.

"Dr. Meltzer's sponsoring of the drug speaks highly for its probable efficacy in many cases.

"Suggestions for treatment having the authority of such investigators as Dr. Meltzer, always receive serious consideration at the hands of the Department of Health. In this case the suggestions were at once referred to the medical board, which will doubtless be able to report on its experiences with the treatment soon."

TRIED FAVORABLY.

Adrenalin is extracted from the gland above the kidney. Its market price is about $1 an ounce. The sole manufacturers of the drug in this country said there is a plentiful supply on hand.

Despite the reticence of officials, it was learned that the government experts and local health authorities are giving careful consideration to Dr. Meltzer's suggestions.

The "cure" has been tried upon a number of patients in the Kingston Avenue Hospital in Brooklyn. This was done with the consent of parents and private physicians. Results appear to be favorable, but the tests are not extensive enough to warrant predictions of Adrenalin's potency as a cure or even a relief to the baby patients.

State Health Board Is Not Alarmed by Plague

One additional case of infantile paralysis and two other doubtful cases have been reported to Dr. Eugene R. Kelley, director of the division of communicative diseases of the State Department of Health.

The case, the diagnosis of which has been confirmed, is that of Rachel Cohen of Holyoke. It is reported that Everett Bommer of Worcester has possible symptoms of the disease, but the case appears to be a very mild one, even if it is actually anterior poliomyelitis. A suspicious case in the town of Norwood has also been reported.

The State officials are not in the least alarmed by the present situation in this State.

The State Department has received a report that Charles and Philip Barbey of Medway have possible symptoms of the dread plague and the district health officer is investigating the case.

An eighteen months-old Italian child whose home was in Charlestown, died Wednesday at the City Hospital, it has just become known. Physicians in charge of the case believe the child developed the disease in Brooklyn, N. Y., whence it was brought a week ago. Following its death a post-mortem examination was made. Laboratory investigations will be made, pending which the child's name will be withheld, and the home has been thoroughly disinfected.

Three New Cases of Paralysis in Detroit

Detroit, Mich., July 15.—Three cases of infantile paralysis were reported at Ford City, just across the river from Detroit in Canada, today, and there are two cases on this side. Organized efforts are being made to prevent the spread of the disease. Mayor Marx has ordered a thorough clean-up of the alleys and vacant yards in the city.

Little Girl Taken Ill in Phiadelphia

Philadelphia, July 15.—A case of infantile paralysis, that of a little girl, was discovered in this city last night. Her home was placed under quarantine today.

Catherine Hughes Passes Wellesley Entrance Exams

Miss Catherine Hughes, daughter of Charles E. Hughes, the Republican candidate for the presidency, has successfully passed her entrance examinations for admission to Wellesley College, where she will matriculate in September.

Mrs. Hughes received her education also on the shores of Lake Waban. Miss Hughes was graduated from the National Cathedral School for Girls at Washington last month.

Her father delivered a flag address at the commencement exercises that caused much comment before the holding of the Chicago convention.

SEES NO REASON TO SUSPECT CRIME

District Attorney Pelletier, who has been carrying on a secret investigation of the death of Mrs. Emma Bostwick O'Donnell, who died on a train near Utica, N. Y., while on her honeymoon, has received a letter from District Attorney Bradley Fuller of Utica, which says there is no reason to suspect crime in her death.

SHOE WORKER CUTS THROAT WITH KNIFE

Brockton, July 15.—Becoming insane at the dinner table with his wife and daughter, Berger Nelson, thirty-six, ran to a closet and picked up a shoe worker's knife. His wife caught him and pleaded with him, but he shook her off and drew the blade across his throat, severing his windpipe and jugular vein.

DARTMOUTH GRADUATE SLAIN

By International News Service.

Chicago, July 15.—A tragedy of blunders was responsible today for the death of T. Palmer Miller, Dartmouth graduate in 1910, and successful young Chicago business man. Miller was shot and beaten to death late last night at the home of his sweetheart, Miss Pauline Edgerton, in Austin by Detective Sergeant James Garry, who mistook him for a burglar.

Miss Edgerton's father heard a burglar upstairs. Calling the police, he sent Miller to the back of the house while he remained in front. The sergeant was in plain clothes and Miller evidently mistook him for the burglar. The officer evidently made the same mistake, and in the scuffle that followed, he shot Miller through the heart.

Lydig Leaves for Petrograd.

Santa Barbara, Cal., July 15.—Because his wife's condition is so much improved as to place her beyond danger, Philip Lydig, vice-ambassador to Petrograd, has left for New York, from whence he sails for his Russian post of duty.

Harvard Buys Students' Home on Gold Coast

Randolph Hall, one of the most exclusive of Gold Coast dormitories at Harvard, is reported to have passed from private ownership into the hands of Harvard College. This marks the first move in the plan that spells the death knell of the famous Gold Coast, and which may be further accentuated by other purchases and the establishment of this chain of palatial college apartments into a segregated district for members of the sophomore class.

In making the deal, it is understood that Harvard conveyed to real estate interests represented by Harold J. Coolidge, of No. 40 State street, the old brick building in Harvard square known as the College House, on the first floor of which are a dozen or more business firms. This piece of property will be demolished at once and replaced by a handsome modern brick building. There is a report that a first-class hotel may be included in the plans for the rebuilding of that section.

SAYS $53,000 COULD BE SAVED BY CITY

Guy C. Emerson, consulting engineer of the Finance Commission, in a report to the City Council, said that if political patronage and superfluous employes were eliminated, and coal and refuse contractors were forced to live up to their agreements, $53,000 could be cut from the supplementary budget of $168,238, asked for the Public Works Department.

CARMEN AGREE ON NEW 'L' PAY SCALE

The new Elevated wage agreement, granting its 5,000 uniform men an increase of 2 cents an hour this year and an additional advance of 1½ cents an hour in the next two years and an increase to the 4,000 other employes of 1 cent an hour each year for three years and other advantages, was almost unanimously ratified at two meetings of Boston Street Car Men's Union in Tremont Temple, in a burst of wild cheering for the officials, international officers and wage conference committees of both sides.

The acceptance by the men of the new agreement, which runs for a period of three years and dates back to May 1, of this year, ends a period of months of suspense to the men themselves and the general public.

It was made possible by the untiring efforts of Vice-President Matthew C. Brush of the company and W. D. Mahon of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, who were also assisted by the joint wage committees of the company and the union of the men.

The new agreement covers over 10$ closely typewritten pages, and it took President Mahon over three hours to read and explain its intricacies to the men. It was pronounced by Mr. Mahon and the men themselves to be one of the best labor agreements in the United States.

PLANS LAID FOR CONVENTION OF HIBERNIANS

Preparations for the national convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Ladies' Auxiliary, which opens at the Copley-Plaza Monday and continues for five days, have been completed by the committee of arrangements headed by Francis J. Horgan.

An attractive program has been outlined for the entertainment of the visiting delegates, who will represent more than 250,000 members of the order and its auxiliary.

A ball Monday evening; addresses Tuesday evening by Cardinal O'Connell, Governor McCall, Senators Lodge and Weeks and Congressman Tague and Gallivan; a banquet Thursday evening; a series of lectures on Irish history, art and literature, and a number of sightseeing and harbor trips are among the events scheduled.

The committee in charge includes, besides Mr. Horgan, Mayor Curley, Ex-Mayor Fitzgerald, Joseph F. O'Connell, Matthew Cummings, Thomas J. Kelly, William T. Fleming, Mrs. Mary Renaud, Joseph P. Lomasney, Frederick J. McLaughlin, the Rev. Philip J. O'Donnell, William H. Cuddy, James Mantle and Miss Nellie Carroll.

'L' CHANGES ARE ORDERED BY STATE BOARD

The Boston Elevated has been ordered, in a decision handed down by the Public Service Commission, to install trailer cars in the East Boston tunnel as soon as possible, to re-route the cars on two of its tunnel lines and to construct a new double-track line from Day Square, East Boston, to Orient Heights.

The company is also ordered to submit to the commission for its approval plans for the construction of multiple-unit centre-entrance steel cars of the same general design as the trailer cars now in use on the system.

The order is the outcome of hearings upon two petitions, one submitted by Representatives John J. Kearney and Edward L. Kelley of East Boston, and the other by Maurice Caro, a former member of the House from Chelsea.

Both petitions complained that the service furnished between East Boston and the city proper was unsatisfactory, and the commission, in its review of the case, says that "the complaint is shown to be fully justified."

TUNNEL SERVICE SCORED.

The review adds that while the old stub-end tracks of the East Boston tunnel made for poor service it has been found that the new loop arrangement, made possible by the extension of the tunnel to Bowdoin square, has, as an immediate result, "shown little improvement."

It says that a number of additional cars have been operated since the completion of the extension, "but these hardly proved sufficient to provide for the increased travel resulting from the abolition of the tunnel 'zone.'"

It has been estimated, the report says, that the tunnel, with the loop and improved signal service, will "accommodate from 125 to 150 car units per hour, but the company has not found it possible, with its present equipment and the conditions now existing on the surface lines in East Boston, to operate much more than eighty cars per hour at the maximum, a number inadequate to meet the present demands of rush hour travel."

ORDER MORE CARS HOURLY.

The board says, in this regard, that it is practicable to operate more cars per hour, especially if changes which it recommends are made at the tunnel entrance in East Boston. More substantial relief from the congestion, however, is promised by the operation of larger cars and by the use of trains consisting of two or more cars.

To meet that contingency the board orders that the road shall, immediately upon the receipt of the trailer cars already ordered, assign them to its East Boston division. It sets the number to be assigned at not less than sixteen trailer cars and an equal number of semi-convertibles.

The board then orders the company to submit the plans for the construction of the multiple-unit centre-entrance cars and stipulates that when the plans are approved the company shall purchase not less than one hundred of them for operation during all the hours of the day upon all the lines of the company in East Boston and Chelsea, except the Jeffries Point line and the North Ferry line in East Boston.

NEW EAST BOSTON STATION.

It is also provided that the line now operated from Lexington street, East Boston, through the tunnel to Central square, Cambridge, shall be discontinued between Kendall square and Central square and operated to Kendall square only.

Another provision of importance is that the company shall submit to the commission for approval plans for a station of prepayment area at the portal of the East Boston tunnel at Maverick square.

The company also is ordered to construct a new double-track line in East Boston from Day Square, by way of Bennington street, to Orient Heights. Upon its completion the Orient Heights line shall be entrusted over the new location.

Another provision is that the lines now operated from Roxbury Crossing to Copley square, thence by way of Boylston, Charles and Cambridge streets and the East Boston tunnel extension to the Scollay Under station shall be removed from the tunnel as soon as an alternative route for those lines is fixed.

2 WOMEN ARE HELD AS PICKPOCKETS

Charged with luring a man into an alleyway off Pemberton square and picking his pockets, two women were arrested after a chase by Patrolman John Fox of the Court square station.

The women gave their names as Mary Dolan, thirty-two, of Erie street, Dorchester, and Margaret Wash, twenty-two, of Washington street.

Both are charged with the larceny of $30 in money from Carl Michaelson, an Elevated road employe, who lives on Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge.

The police say the young women met Michaelson on a downtown street and walked with him to Pemberton square. There, it is charged, they robbed him.

POLICEMAN GOES INTO RIVER AFTER MAN

After pursuing two alleged automobile thieves across country, over stone walls and through a marsh, Patrolman George A. Kelly of the Hyde Park station, plunged into the Neponset River and captured one of the men.

The chase led to Mason street, where the policeman came within hailing distance. There was another command to stop, which was answered with a burst of speed from the fugitives' car.

The machines flew through Wolcott square and Milton street to Brush Hill road. The first car gradually drew away, and seemed to be on the point of escaping when it struck a bend of the road and crashed into an elm tree.

The car was wrecked, and the fugitives scattered, but they managed to get to their feet and started running over stone walls and crossing the marshes.

Kelly sprang from his car and followed, gaining on them until they separated. Singling out one man, Kelly followed him, as he dashed blindly and fumbled into the river, wading out in hope that the officer would not follow. Kelly plunged into the water and caught his man.

At the station the man gave the name of James Sullivan, seventeen, of Moreland street, Roxbury.

$18,500 YEARLY TOO MUCH FOR GIRL

New York, July 15.—Surrogate Fowler denied the plea of Lorena Carroll, 16 years old, of No. 57 West Seventy-fifth Street for an annual allowance of $18,500 from the estate of her father, Joseph D. Carroll, who left $1,100,000.

This is what the girl listed in her affidavit as the least possible amount required for a child in her station of life:

Automobile, chauffeure, &c., $3,500.

Traveling, vacations, social duties, luncheons, theatres and spending money, $5,000.

Wearing apparel and toilet articles, $3,000.

Household expenses, telephones, flowers and gratuities, $2,500.

Rent, $2,500.

Education, including private tuition in French and music, $2,000.

Physicians, opticians, dentist and medicines, $1,000.

Incidentals, $1,000.

Lorena's mother sets forth in a second affidavit that she cannot provide for the child's needs, as she receives only the income of a $100,000 trust fund under her husband's will.

DANIELS BARS WINE GLASSES FROM NAVY

By International News Service.

Philadelphia, July 15.—Any man who is reminded of a drink will want one, Secretary Daniels believes. That's why there are to be no more cut-glass wine services in the United States navy.

Mr. Daniels, resolved not to subject the men to such temptation, has ordered off the ships all cutglass except olive dishes and hand mirrors. Some of the vessels mentioned here already have been directed to send their services to the New York navy yard, where they will be sold at auction.

The folks at home who contributed good dollars to buying punch bowls and decanters to the battleship bearing the name of their State, may now buy them back at 20 per cent. discount of their cost. If they were presented in the two years since Mr. Daniels' order doing away with wine went into effect, they are almost as good as new.

There are some "pickle" dishes aboard the battleships. These, of course, will be allowed to remain.

BOSTON MOOSE OFF FOR CONVENTION

About seventy-five members of Boston Lodge 34, L. O. O. Moose, with their wives, have left Boston for Mooseheart, Ill., the national home of the order, to attend its annual convention. The following members have charge of the trip: A. W. Hayden, chairman; C. P. Sefton, dictator; T. A. Hennessey, vice-dictator; P. W. Herbert, secretary; W. F. E. Donahue, prelate.

Long Game Helped Sox

Double Offering Today

By HERMAN NICKERSON.

What had been predicted came true. The Browns came to town and proceeded to make trouble for the World's Champions, holding them runless for a seventeen-inning tie and doing it through the snappiest kind of baseball, back of some great pitching by the young left-hander. Koob. This twirler in his eagerness to get to the plate with the run to win, failed to touch third and was called out, naturally. This is the only help the Browns gave the Champs, and as usual, the break came their way.

With a double-header this afternoon, the first game called at 1:30 o'clock, the week will be somewhat strenuous, this bill-making four double-headers for the six playing days, with one of these cancelled due to rain and one made void by a tie.

The champions, even though they neither won nor lost, made a gain in the standing and with Koob and Wellman disposed of for the time being they stand a good chance to close the week with a double win. This will be the third in one week if they are successful, which is traveling at a fast clip.

WEAK WITH STICK.

The team was very weak with the stick, having more chances to win a game of ball than come in a week. The boys, however, put up a stiff fielding game and were out there battling all the way for the decision, which is something they must do if they expect to get the big end of the present series. One would think to watch the Browns play the game that they had the pennant bee buzzing in their caps. No team ever fought harder or played a stronger defensive game than these Browns, who are the neighborg of the Athletics at the foot of the ladder.

Carl Mays worked nicely although he looked as if he might be called from the mound at any time due to his lack of control, this game being about the first time he has displayed that weakness. His passes were many but with men on he tightened up and held them. It was a pass to Koob that started the trouble in the fifteenth inning, the pitcher walking, taking second on Shotten's hit with one out. Johnson filed to Lewis and Miller lost the credit of a hit, and St. Louis the ball game when Koob failed to touch third.

A FINE PEG

Lewis made a great peg to the infield, and in the mixup at the plate Mays who had gone there to cover was spiked in the face, being forced to retire. Leonard was called upon to finish the game and the two innings there was but one scratch hit and one base on balls to give the Browns hope.

Manager Carrigan made a couple of switches which at the time may have looked as the best thing to do, but in one instance the failure to come through cost a chance for a victory. When he took Gardner out of the game to let McNally run for him, he must be seen playing a bunch, for Larry is as clever a man on the bases as there is on the team. McNally's great hold in a previous game however and as the club hadn't scored or got near it, this move was rational.

But in the eleventh inning with Walker on second, McNally fanned. Now Gardner has been known to come through very often in situations like this and many thought of this chance had he been in the game. Tilly's two bagger was useless. There wasn't a hit in the team.

GOOD DEFENCE.

Defensively the champions still displayed that skill which has kept them up in the race. Their fourteen hits were like mile stones through the contest, the only one inning were they able to get more than one, and that was in the ninth when they got two.

McNally made a remarkable step and throw at third to retire the Tenth. Agnew ran back reaching over the field box in the eighth for a foul fly with three and two out, and Hooper pulled one of his long running catches at an opportune time. Duffy Lewis and Scott showed strong symptoms of being some class in the batting ranks.

That is what the Champions want right now and each will push them to the top in a hurry when they start.

SHORTEN IS PASSED ALONG TO NEWARK

"Chick" Shorten, the outfielder on the Red Sox, has been released to the Newark (International League) club under optional agreement. Manager Carrigan considers he has outfielders enough for the present and he placed Shorten as that he might get regular work.

Military Fund Game Plans Complete

The plans for Monday's monster military benefit at Fenway Park are going merrily on and keeping apace with the plan making the fans are buying tickets in large numbers. All signs point toward a record breaking attendance and President Lannin feels confident that he will be able to send a goodly sized check to the fund.

Governor McCall and Mayor Curley each assured President Lannin that he would attend. The Mayor will have as guests a majority of the high officials of the A. O. H., which will be in convention here. As announced before the Governor will be accompanied by such of his staff of officers as are not on active duty in Mexico.

As yet the leader of the Sixth Regiment Band hasn't decided on the exact programme his workers will render during the afternoon. However he has assured those having the affair in charge that it will be attractive and one that will surely please. The sale of tickets continues today at the different stores named and at Fenway Park.

Redland Rooter Has McGraw Arrested

Cincinnati, July 15.—John J. McGraw, of the New York Giants, was arrested here late yesterday on a warrant sworn out by John T. Reed, a local fan, charging him with disorderly conduct.

McGraw gave bond for his appearance in the Municipal Court and left with his team for Chicago last night.

The trouble started after the game, when remarks by several spectators were addressed to the New York players while they were in their dressing rooms. McGraw resented the remarks. There were no blows struck, but some ugly language was used, according to the police.

After McGraw's arrest, Arthur Fletcher, the Giants' shortstop, swore to a warrant causing Reed's arrest.

Jim Rice Almost Sure to Land at Cornell.

New York, July 15.—No confirmation or denial could be secured today from Columbia University officials concerning the report that rowing would be abolished.

None of the officials in a position to talk on the subject was in the city. Rumor has it that the Columbia authorities have felt the sport is too expensive for the trifling interest taken in it by the major portion of the students. Jim Rice has a contract to coach the crews which does not expire until 1921, but it is said that the Cornell authorities are willing to assume his contract, Rice to replace "Pa" Courtney, who has been forced into retirement on account of illness.

HON. ZIM'S HOMER NETS HIM $100 GIFT

Chicago, July 15.—Heinie Zimmerman of the Cubs was presented with a check for $100 by President Weeghman. It was a reward for his home run Thursday, which won the game from the Phillies.

Braves After All Four Confident in Redland

Cincinnati, July 15.—Ordinarily ballplayers, like human beings, don't relish the thought of spending hot nights on sleepers. However, when a ball club has completed the task of winning two series in order, hot nights and sleepers have no ill effects on them.

Consequently it was a rather chipper bunch that Manager O. T. Stallings lead off the rattler from Pittsburgh this morning. Hadn't they taken a series from Chicago and another from Pittsburgh. Furthermore they were firmly convinced that the matter of taking a series from Cincinnati would be anything but difficult.

In today's series with the men of Herrmann, Little Dick Rudolph, the same individual whom Tom Clarke "maimed" at Braves Field back in June, will make his second start since that day. Rudy's other start, in Pittsburgh, wasn't what might call highly successful. However, this morning he asserts he is ready and will win. He arrived here a day ahead of the club and spent yesterday watching the Giants win from Herzog's rustlers.

TONEY MAY WORK.

Though its by no means a certainty chances are that Fred Toney will be assigned the task of stopping the Boston hustlers. Local fans feel certain that Stallings and his band are as avaricious as the sharks off the Jersey coast, and they expect some fall fight at Redland Field. Then the additional fact that Johnny Evers becomes eligible once more during the stay of the club in this city will be some drawing incentive.

On the last western swing of the Braves the fans complained that the club had lost its old fight. On that account they went to the park in droves. Recent developments give forth the impression that fight is once more predominant in their minds. Fans in this town wait to see a scrap any time there's a ball game and figuring that the Braves have stated their fight to the ball yard today for that purpose.

The Braves circles in Cincinnati is strong that Stallings may not desire to break up his present winning combination. That is he may not feel inclined to take Sam Fitzpatrick out of the lineup in favor of Evers. Fitzpatrick is hitting the ball hard and in addition is fielding in bangup fashion. His pepper has meant much to the team and on that account there is a strong feeling that Stallings will allow him to stay in.

$10,000 DERBY TOPS CHICAGO RACE CARD

Chicago, July 15.—Racing will be resumed at the Hawthorne track today, after a lapse of several years. The running track was recently laid out of existence, but a new Legislature has permitted racing "without betting."

No "bookies" or mutuel machines will be permitted to operate, but real wagering, it is said, will be permitted if conducted in the same way as on the New York tracks. The big feature of the program will be the $10,000 American Derby.

George Smith, favorite in the Derby, pulled up lame after his workout yesterday, it was said, and probably will not start. If the horse is withdrawn, only Churchill, Dodge, Franklin, Dick Williams and Faux Col will start.

WRIGHT MAY WIN CUP

Youth Is Favored to Land Woodland Trophy Today—Four Players Battle for Cup.

In the semi-final matches to decide just who will meet in this afternoon's final H. B. Wood of Hudson, N. Y., and L. B. Paton of Homestead clash in the top half, while in the bottom Charles Skehens of Woodland and Fred J. Wright, Jr., meet. The Woodland tournament has provided some fine golf to date, but indications are that the two rounds played today will provide the banner play of the tourney.

Shrewd followers of golf are of the opinion that the ultimate winner will come from among the pair who are fighting it out in the lower half. Skehens is a Westerner who recently became affiliated with Woodland and plays a slashing golf. In Freddie Wright, however, he tackles a youngster who, like Quimet, started playing the game while in his early teens and who has improved with each tourney in which he plays.

However, it's by no means a certainty that either one of the pair in the top half can win. Both Wood and Paton play slashing golf, and whichever one does get into the final round is bound to make his opponent travel to win. In addition to the final round this afternoon there is a side event in the shape of a handicap versus Massachusetts rating battle.

HANDICAP PLAY.

Indications are that this event will attract a large field, in fact chances favor an entry list of close to 100 players. Wood gets into the semi-finals by virtue of wins over W. P. Hunt of Oakley and T. C. Dempsey of Hatherly. Paton won from J. W. Galvin and W. S. Lawrence of Woodland. Skehens defeated W. B. Ulker and Bob Lehane. Wright had victories over two of the best golfers in this section, H. A. Roark and L. J. Malone.

Should Wright emerge successful today great pressure will be brought to bear on him in an effort to prevent his taking part in any golf prior to next Tuesday. On that day his fellowers plan to have him play a practice round at Wollaston in preparation for the Massachusetts amateur championship, which starts the following day. He is one of those favored for the title.

Essex Foursomes Reach Final Round

Manchester, Mass., July 15.—The invitation four-ball, best ball final match which is being played today at the Essex Country Club at thirty-six holes had Charles M. Amory and H. W. Estabrook of the Country Club, Brookline, playing against two of their clubmates, F. J. O. Alsop and W. C. Chick. The first round of eighteen holes started at 9:30.

Estabrook and Amory are picked to win the final match today because of their steady golf ever since the tournament started on last Thursday. Last year they won the trophy, defeating F. J. O. Alsop and L. A. Frothingham by a comfortable margin and according to their followers are expected to win first honors again today.

There is no doubt that Alsop and Chick are a far better couple than the combination Amory and Frothingham who competed last year, due to the fact that the latter player did not find time to engage in many tournaments before he had played in last year's event.

Chick is considered one of the best match players in the State. He will no doubt be able to play either Estabrook or Amory stroke for stroke and with his partner helping him out on several of the holes the chances are that Estabrook and Amory will not have a walkover by any means.

McGraw Claiming Herzog and Plans Turning Mathewson Over to Reds—Has Landed Salle

McGraw Claims He Has Closed Deal for Harry Sallee

St. Louis, July 15.—Manager Johnny McGraw of the Giants announced upon his arrival here this morning that Pitcher "Slim" Sallee of the Cardinals will don a Giant uniform tomorrow or Monday. Ten thousand dollars is said to have been the price paid for the star left-hander.

Sallee has a few minor details to straighten out with his old club before he signs a New York contract, McGraw said.

One is that he will insist upon the return of the $100 fine assessed upon him by the Cardinal owners when he quit the club in New York a few weeks ago after a run-in with Manager Huggins.

New York, July 15.—Report has it strong that President Herrmann of the Cincinnati Reds and President Hempstead of the Giants have come to an agreement on the question of where Manager Herzog will play ball when he leaves Cincinnati, and they decided that it will be in New York.

In exchange for the Cincinnati leader Christy Mathewson will go to Cincinnati.

The above information was obtained from a source the authenticity of which can scarcely be disputed.

It is on the cards for Mathewson to go to Cincinnati as manager.

Herrmann and Hempstead have all but completed the deal, it is claimed, and only a few formalities remain. The Reds will probably also get Fletcher and Rousch.

Herzog's departure from Cincinnati was forecasted in a statement made yesterday by Herzog. Herzog, who has played short ever since he was made manager, has been playing third for two weeks, the position McGraw wants him to fill on the Giant team.

The Massachusetts militia officers at the border, as their first task, set to work to make maps of the neighborhood of their camp. They were guarded from attack as they worked; but they worked fast and well—and—

In tomorrow's Sunday AMERICAN there will be printed the result of their work; a most remarkable exhibition of what the army and the militia can do when it tries.

Yale Stars in Ranks of Athletes Follow Flag

New Haven, Ct., July 15.—Some of the Yale athletes who have left this city to go even finally to the Mexican border as members of the Yale Artillery Battalion believe that if war crops out with Mexico, college athletics will be at a standstill, at least, after the close of the football season.

One Yale athletic captain said before the members of the battalion left here:

"If hostilities continue for a period of months, as many people fear, I do not believe that American college teams will arrange Winter and Spring athletic schedules. The football schedules have been arranged and I believe that most of the games will be played, although in case border warfare or an invasion of Mexico distracts the attention of the American sport-loving public, the attendance at the gridiron games next Fall will be small and the interest light."

FEW FOOTBALL MEN ENROLL.

Fewer members of the Yale football squad have been enrolled in the Yale battery than members of any other of the Yale athletic teams.

Only two, who would probably be regulars next Fall, are members of the Yale battery, Charlie Sheldon and Jim Braden. Sheldon was regular tackle last Fall, although out of the game part of the season with a crippled knee.

He was formerly captain of the Andover Academy eleven and of the Yale freshmen three years ago. "Cupid" Black defeated him for the Yale captaincy last Fall by the margin of only one or two votes.

Braden is the former Washington and Jefferson star, who played on the Yale ineligible eleven last Fall, which defeated the regulars time and again.

The Yale coaches regard him as likely to prove one of the strongest ends Yale has developed in years, in case he returns from the border in time to play football. If he and Sheldon are lost to the Yale eleven, because of the trouble with Mexico, the handicap to the team will be severe.

TRACK LEADERS IN RANKS.

No other regulars, however, have been as yet enrolled in the Yale Battery. J. P. Walden and R. J. Farrar, guards for two seasons; C. H. Roberts, halfback and end for two years, and A. C. Leisenring, substitute centre, are members of the battery, but all except Leisenring received a Yale diploma in June.

Leisenring is a member of the class of 1917. He is the best hurdler on the Yale track team, as well as a promising football reserve player.

The Yale track team has lost Captain Johnny Overton, whose work the past season excelled that of any other distance star, although he was in poor condition for the intercollegiate meet that closed the season.

Wesley Oler, captain of the Yale track team last year, and Keith Fotter, a prominent hurdler, are both enrolled in the Yale Artillery Battalion.

Although a large number of the Yale crew has been enrolled, nearly all were members of the class of 1916, including Captain Beth Low, Bob Cuthbertson, Allen McLane, R. G. Coombe, E. S. James and S. T. Gallard.

One of the recent recruits is Ray Watrous, the varsity pitcher.

President Hadley of Yale has a son in the battery. Morris Hadley, who rowed bow in the second varsity crew against Harvard. Ex-Secretary of State Evarts has two grandsons in the battery, Roger Sherman Evarts and E. C. Evarts.

Prominent New York members of the battery from the ranks of the Yale undergraduates are Oliver B. Jennings, W. E. D. Stokes, Jr., and Craig Gilbert, Jr.

Austin Dunham, son of the Hartford Insurance Company's president, and Melbert B. Cary, Jr., son of the former head of the Democratic organization of Connecticut, is a member, as is also Lloyd Bissell of Buffalo, son of the former postmaster-general. Ellery S. James, the Yale chairman and Glee Club president, who has gone to the front, is a son of Dr. Walter B. James of New York City.

The fate of the Yale Pageant, which, it was thought, would fill the football bowl with 50,000 people next Fall, is an conjectural among Yale men as that of college athletics the coming year.

Although some of the athletes are pessimistic, most of the members of the battery seem to think that they left here for the federal military camp at Tobyhanna, Pa., that the beginning of the Fall term would find the athletes and other undergraduates back in the negligee garb of college undergraduates.

GILHOOLEY WILL BE OUT FOR SOME TIME

Washington, July 15.—Outfielder Frank Gilhooley of the New York Americans will be in the hospital here Monday for his home to Toledo. He expects to return to New York in about a month and resume playing the last week in August. Gilhooley broke his leg in a game here two weeks ago.

MARKLE IS TO DUCK OUT.

New York, July 15.—Manager Donovan of the Yankees has asked waivers on Pitcher Cliff Markle, whose only notable feat since entering the big show was his one shutout victory over the Red Sox last Fall. It is said Cleveland has claimed the youngster.

HANDICAP WINNER DEAD

Chicago, July 15.—Burkhorn, a famous running horse, which won both the Suburban and Brooklyn handicaps two years ago, dropped dead here after working out a half-mile in the exceedingly fast time of 48s. Heart disease caused his death.

NEW YORK RING TALK

NEW YORK, July 15.— The much-discussed return bout between Bill Brennan, champion of the world's western heavyweights, takes place at the Broadway Sporting Club, Brooklyn, tonight.

BILLY FITZSIMMONS will meet Frankie Daly at the Fairmont Club.

BILLY DEFOE, the St. Louis featherweight, boxes Tommy Farrell of New York at the Clermont Rink, Brooklyn.

FLEET ON ANNUAL CRUISE

Boston Yacht Club Craft Off on Run to Marblehead—Boothbay Objective Point.

About forty yachts and power boats left City Point this morning for the annual cruise to the eastward of the Boston Yacht Club. The objective point is Boothbay Harbor, and it is expected that the cruise will be fully as successful as any which have preceded it.

The run is to Marblehead, and as the fleet has been divided into classes for racing purposes, this will add to the sport. There is always a great deal of keen rivalry on all club cruises, and, with the fine bunch of crafts, the racing should be especially keen.

The fleet has been divided into the following classes. Class A boats, under forty feet over all, class B boats, over forty feet over all, class P, thirty-one-foot rating, B. H. class, Bar Harbor class.

PLENTY OF SPECIALS.

There will be special classes formed for small boats, and suitable prizes will be given to the winners of the daily runs, as well as weekend prizes for boats making the best actual performances for the week. All classes, with the exceptions of the P and Bar Harbor will be handicaps, and allowances will be figured on Herreshoff's table, over-all lengths.

The launch Tones will be the committee boat, with Commodore A. C. Jones's Nutmeg III. the flagship. R. M. Boynton has been appointed fleet chaplain and Dr. A. M. Fland ra fleet surgeon.

Although about forty boats reported to the committee boat for the race from City Point to Marblehead, there will be a much larger number on hand tomorrow when the fleet sets sail for Kittery, Me. The fleet will start at 8.30 a. m. from Marblehead and, under favorable conditions, it is a good day's run from Marblehead to Kittery.

GALA WEEK'S SPORT.

The committee hopes the weather will be favorable for the long run Monday, which is from Kittery to Peak's Island. Otherwise the fleet will be ordered to put in at Cape Porpoise Potts Harbor will be the next stopping place, and on Wednesday the yachtsmen are scheduled to reach Boothbay.

The following day, which will be spent in Boothbay, will be featured in the morning with a baseball game between two mixed nines, captained by Arthur J. Sautry and Francis Holmes, respectively.

After a stop at Christmas Cove Friday night the fleet will return to Peak's Island, but any of the crafts desiring to cruise East for a time may do so under the leadership of Vice-Commodore C. N. Burnell.

WENCK OUT TO HAVE DECISION ALLOWED

New York, July 15.—It is quite possible that the boxing commission's rule prohibiting the rendering of decisions in bouts in this State will shortly be abolished and the referees officiating empowered to declare a winner.

The probability of such action on the part of the State Athletic Commission was sustained in a letter sent out by Chairman Fred A. Wenck to Commissioners Dwyer and Franey, the un-Plate supervisors of the sport, and all that remains now to empower referees to give decisions is the consent of the latter two commissioners to Wenck's suggestion.

Another radical change which Chairman Wenck advocates in his letter was to restrain promoters from booking out fabulous guarantees as an attraction to widely known boxers.

IT was also stated that the various clubs on whose grounds games transferred from Franklin Field are played that said clubs would assume the traveling teams' expenses, inasmuch as they would have had to pay their own should the original schedule be followed.

Pacers Clash in Chief Race at Springfield

Springfield, July 15.—The much-heralded meeting of Earl, Jr., It Will Tell and B. M. in the free-for-all pace at the new Exhibition Grounds today promises the final days sport of the Short Ship harness session.

At the recent Windsor, Ct., meet It Will Tell was sent to the barn for alleged interference, having B. M. to fight it out practically alone with the ultimate winner, Earl, Jr. Still it was not until B. M. annexed two heats that the grey horse proved the better. The 2:15 trot will bring out a fast field of ten, including Frank Fox's Carnathan, J. Forbes and Kerout. The latter has gathered three wins out of four starts at the Short Ship circuit this season, and Harry Brusie, who has handled the trotter, will hand the ribbons over to his son Lyman, as the elder Brusie has not sufficiently recovered from his "cold" while driving Bud Elliott on the opening day.

The 2:14 pace completes the program. A big field of fair side-stepping are slated to compete.

Straight heats were the rule yesterday. The 2:20 trot was the feature, Zombro Rex winning from a field of eight.

Harry J. S., last year's leading money winner, captured the 2:12 trot from a small field. This was another Tyson victory.

The veteran Fox, driving Andy Ashland, took the 2:18 pace, turning in two miles in 2:11¼.

MORAN TO BOX CALLAHAN.

New York, July 15.—Vic Moran, the southern lightweight, will meet Frankie Callahan, in Brooklyn, next Tuesday night.

FLYNN IS A LUCKY YOUTH

Gets Home One Hope-to-Die Punch at Very End in Bout with Joe Connolly and Gains Draw.

By RINGSIDE.

Eddie Flynn, the veteran, ditto lanky, welterweight from Peabody, was lucky, extremely so, to receive a draw in his twelve-round melee with Joe Connolly, the rugged Charlestown youth, staged before a packed house at the Commercial A. C. last night.

Referee Jack Sheehan evidently took cognizance of the fact that Flynn, while not landing nearly as often as Connolly, scored the cleanest punches. Then, Eddie, when stamped an almost sure loser, staggered Connolly with a right flush to the jaw when the bout had but some thirty seconds to go. This, no doubtless gave Flynn a further boost in Sheehan's final reckoning.

No, Sheehan's decision wasn't popular, but might have been right. The expected rough battle was fought. Connolly, always easy to mark up, had his bum right optic opened early and the claret flowed in streams all the way during the lively fracas.

FLYNN ROUGHLY HANDLED.

Flynn is the experienced ring-ster of the two and it was only because he isn't a flighty brawler he stuck the twelve rounds and gained a 50-50 verdict.

Connolly let fly enough rough rough punches to have stopped Flynn and his entire family. But a big bunch of openings landed on Flynn's elbows or back, while close on to half the punches never disturbed anything but the air.

For all that, Joe did hit Flynn a powerful lot of times. He had his lanky via-a-vis residing on the edge of Queer Street more than once. In fact, Flynn seemed the positive nominee for a count-out a half dozen or more times. But the veteran always managed to keep going and doubtless that resounding wallop he got home right at the windup is what saved him from a blackmark.

The semi-final proved the anticipated big riot, with Jim McDonald, the attenuated member from Dorchester, opening in the tally with Jim Moore, the former amateur king from California, who is now holding forth at Jamaica Plain.

TALLY IS NOW 50-50.

In their other bout McDonald went out in the fifth round. Last night Moore took the count in that canto. Moreover, he was on the canvas and done for and Referee Sheehan did the proper thing when he stopped the mêlée and whipped into Brother Moore's ears that he figured enough was enough and to let it go until some other night.

The big bit of the bill was the six-round event between Pat Gwena of Cambridge, a former Queer bird, more than once; he and Louis Leonard of the North End. It was one James Dandy of the males and whipped into Brother Gwena of the way and scientific with it. The boys heard a fine draw and that was the verdict.

Teddy Murphy had a gallop in his six-round bout with Charley Miller. That Kid knows practically nothing of the game and never had a look-in.

It will be Howard McRae of Cambridge against Young Britt of New Bedford in the star ten-round go this evening. The boxers are programmed to make 134 pounds at ringside. Britt's manager claims the weight will be made —else he will claim McRae's forfeit and pocket it.

LAST NIGHT IN THE RING.

New York, July 15.—Joan Lester Johnson, colored, won over Jack Dempsey in the ninth bout at the Harlem Sporting Club. The white race had the better of the semi-final when Andy Cortez gained the verdict over "Wee Willie" Horton.

Saginaw, S. T., July 15.—Jack Kelsey of Brooklyn, and Jack Clark of Sewickley, Pa., fought a fast ten-round bout at the Power A. A. Kelsey took eight of the ten rounds and was awarded the decision.

Pittsburgh, July 15.—Pete Hartley of New York won from Willie Jones in ten rounds. Sam Harris of Gardner outpointed Young Peterson in the semi-final.

Revival of Racing in Chicago Today

CHICAGO, July 15.—Racing will be resumed here today after a lapse of twelve years, the big feature being the $10,000 American Derby. The running tracks were legislated out of existence, but a new Legislature has permitted racing "without betting."

The running today will be over the famous Hawthorne track. No bookies or mutual machines will be permitted to operate, but oral wagering, it is said, will be permitted if conducted in the same way as on New York tracks.

Highball, who won the last Derby in 1904, earned $28,325. In 1905, when The Picker won, the race was worth $48,500.

George Smith, the public favorite, pulled up lame yesterday and probably will not start. If the horse is withdrawn only Churchill, Dodge, Franklin, Dick Williams and Pete Prevost will go to the post. Churchill will run in the colors of Foxhall P. Keene, and is the only Eastern entry.

Fight a Flivver; Police Will Investigate

Baltimore, July 15.—Police authorities will probably investigate Thursday's Dillon-Levinsky pugilistic fiasco.

According to Ben Prenzier, manager of the Orioles A. C., he agreed to give Dillon the first $5,000 which came in the gate and Levinsky the next $2,000. Tonamuch as the first $5,000 never got through the gate, the promoter pays the managers of the boxers, Sam Nurbarger for Dillon and Dan Morgan for Levinsky, talked about splitting the gate receipts, and that everything probably would have been settled had not outsiders entered the argument.

He declared Nurbarger wanted to take five-seventy-five and give Morgan two-seventy-five, but that the latter stood out for two-fifties and was willing to give Dillon three-fifths. In the end Jack received $1,500 and the Battler $1,000.

There is no doubt that the expenses of the show were greater than gleaned which have been placed here. Referee Ed. W. Smith was brought on from Chicago to handle the mill when it was planned to hand down a decision. The promoter said Smith cost $200 and his expenses The rental of Orioles Park cost $500 more, according to Pressler.

WOLGAST NOW HAS INTEREST IN FULTON

Chicago, July 15.—Ad Wolgast, manager This was the new title of the flying Dutchman today following his purchase from Mike Collins of a half interest in the five-year contract which Collins holds on the services of Fred Fulton, heavyweight aspirant. Fulton has served notice on Collins that he wants to be sold and voiced but Ag opines that if Fred breaks his leg he will have a sweet fight on his hands.

CRACK DRIVERS IN BIG OMAHA DERBY

Omaha, Neb., July 15.—Practically all of the stars of motordom are entered for the annual Omaha Auto Derby on the local course today. Resta and De Palma are entered and another duel is expected from the pair. Ralph Mulford has made the best time in the qualifying rounds, making the course for an average of 111.9 miles an hour.

Revere Juvenile Clashes With Walthour and Carman in Big Event—Herbert Also Starts

TONIGHT'S REVERE CARD.

Twenty-five mile motor-paced race —Starters: Bobby Walthour, Atlanta, Ga.; Clarence Carman, Jamaica, L. I.; Fred Herbert, Fall River; "Pinkie" Turville, Revere.

Professional match race—Tim Sullivan, New Haven, Ct., vs. Ned Chandler, Boston.

Amateur and professional open and handicap events.

Fred Herbert of Fall River and "Pinkie" Turville, Revere's favorite son, will attempt to break onto the Big Time tonight, when they clash with Bobby Walthour, the veteran "Dixie Flyer," and Clarence Carman of Jamaica, L. I., in a four-cornered twenty-five mile motor-paced race at the Revere cycle track.

Turville and Herbert have been carefully prepared for their big effort. Judged on past performances they stand practically an even chance with their more experienced opponents. If they "make good" it means much to both juveniles; if they fail, they must wait in the background until another opportunity presents itself.

An event that is creating practically as much interest as the paced race is the professional match between Tim Sullivan of New Haven, Ct., and Ned Chandler of Boston. These two lads are among the fastest performers at the beach oval. Chandler is being hailed as a second Major Taylor, the old-time colored flier, and many good judges go so far to predict he will equal, if not excel, the great feats of that former speed marvel.

Walthour has been installed the betting favorite in the paced race, which is only natural after the Southerner's great performance Wednesday night. The winner of this event will oppose Leon Didier, Victor Linart and Georges Parisa in the third Brassard, one-hour race of the season, which is billed for next Monday night.

A Girl and a Man

Agnes Learns About the Office from One of her Co-workers

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

CHAPTER VI.

Copyright, 1915, Star Company

This began Agnes Morley's first work with the firm of Hale & Bainbridge.

After the brief conversation when she entered his employ, William Hale spoke no word but of the business of the day to his new stenographer and secretary. He had put her immediately in her place. She was to be, as she had expected, merely a sort of machine in his office.

She was too busy throughout the morning to reflect on this matter, for she needed all her wits to perform her task well. She was so nervous at first that her hands and feet were like ice. Then, as her new employer dictated one letter after another, her pulses became calm and her hands resumed their normal temperature.

The very realization that she was but an animate apparatus for his convenience steadied her. She was glad that he knew nothing of her personality. It was very much easier just as it was.

At 1 o'clock Mr. Hale drew a long breath, as if of weariness.

"There!" he said. "That's enough for the present. You may go on out to luncheon. Be back by a quarter of two. I want to sign my letters before I leave the office at five.

"Very well, sir," she heard herself saying.

The closet in which she had hung her hat and coat was in the large outer room. When she left Mr. Hale's private office she noticed a door to the right of it. It bore the name of "Hasbrook Bainbridge," followed by the word "Private." The same word was on Mr. Hale's own office door.

This room then was occupied by the junior member of the firm.

Glancing quickly about the other room, rallied off into various spaces, she noticed that the stout man whom she had seen here this morning was not present. His stenographer also was nowhere to be seen. But the young girl who had been seated at a typewriter earlier in the day was just now covering her machine preparatory to going out. She nodded kindly to Agnes as she met her eye.

AN INTRODUCTION

"How do you do?" she said. "I'm Miss Rooney—one of the typists here. I guess you're Mr. Hale's new secretary—aren't you?"

"Yes." Agnes replied. "I am Agnes Morley, the new secretary."

"I'm pleased to meet you," the other said. "Since you're giving me your first name, I suppose I may as well give you mine. It's Annie—but I sort of hate to tell it to strangers—for all of them laugh at it."

"I don't see why," Agnes said. I'm sure Annie's a very nice name."

"Oh, it's on account of that old song, 'Annie Rooney,' that they laugh," Annie explained.

"I never thought of that," Agnes smiled.

She looked at her companion intently, for she saw that the girl wanted to be friendly. It was a pity, she thought, that any one who might have been somewhat attractive should dress as Annie Rooney did.

Her plump figure was compressed into a very tight dress, her hair was piled on top of her head in an exaggeration of the prevailing mode, and her face, especially her nose, was abundantly powdered.

Agnes remembered having heard some one say that nowadays the noses of a certain class of girls looked like marshmallows. She wondered why any creature should spoil a pleasant face and torture really pretty black hair as this girl was doing.

"Where are you going to luncheon?" her new acquaintance asked her.

"I don't know. I hadn't planned about it," Agnes replied.

"Well, there's a quite good place near here where you can get a quick feed cheap," Miss Rooney informed her. "Come along with me, and I'll show you."

The pair chatted pleasantly as they went down the street to a lunch room which bore in great white letters on its plate glass window the information that it was "A Select Restaurant for Ladies and Gents."

"I am not a bit hungry," Agnes observed as the pair seated themselves at one of the marble-topped tables dotting the huge room. At the other end of their table were two men, probably clerks from the neighborhood, so intent upon shoveling their food by the means of knives into their mouths that they were entirely oblivious to anybody else who was sitting near them.

AN EXPLANATION

"You're not hungry because you're new to your job," Miss Rooney remarked wisely. "When you've been at it awhile you'll get over being nervous and will just stoke up like the rest of us. What are you going to have now?"

"A bun and a glass of milk," Agnes replied.

"Well, I want some coffee, sinkers and a slice of apple pie," Miss Rooney said. "I want something that will stick to my ribs. You can't work long on the kind of fish-diet that you take."

Agnes laughed. "I'll try to, anyhow," she rejoined.

"You've got a nice boss in many ways." Annie informed her later as they were hurrying back to the office. "Mr. Hale's awfully businesslike and expects good, hard work, but he's just and fair all the same. Mr. Bainbridge isn't. I'm glad I'm not his secretary, but just a plain stenographer and typewriter, with no business knowledge that makes me have to do very much for him. Gee, he can be surly."

"Is he cross to his secretary?" Agnes asked.

"I guess he knows she wouldn't stand for it," Annie giggled. "She's awfully competent, but stands on her rights. He knows if he jaws her she'll give back as good as she gets. She's not young and not good-looking, but she knows a lot."

As they entered the outer office the stout man whom Agnes had seen in the morning came out through the door bearing the name of "Hasbrook Bainbridge." Miss Rooney pinched her companion's arm. "There," she whispered, "that's him—Mr. Bainbridge—that stout chap."

"Oh," breathed Agnes, "is that Mr. Bainbridge?"

Of course, then, it had not been this man whose comment she had overheard on her arrival today. It must have been one of the office boys who had given vent to that impertinent expression of admiration.

Warm Weather Millinery

By NELL BRINKLEY

Copyright, 1916, by International News Service.

"LOOK at me in my sassy new bonnet—you see how little there is of it—so that I may have the breeze from the Summer sea and the Summer mountains, which are the only two things that are cool in Summer time, the breezes blow 'round my throat and ears and neck and—well, my forehead IS under cover isn't it—but a maid must bend the knee to fashion somehow! And when my forehead grows hot and tired under my silken bangs why then I have little long ribbon handles to swing it by. These are primroses that deck the crown like a midget garden of butter-gold. My beau likes yellow, you see. And now I come to think on it honestly, I have a small mischievous liking for looking up under this sheltering brim. It gives my eyes an air, you know!"

"My bonnet, my warm-weather millinery, is a faery skull-cap, a bit of silky nothingness that my mother, whose big soft eyes are two bending skies above me, crocheted in a cobwebby shell-stitch with her own pretty fingers. She said it would be cool and airy for a baby's pink scalp. 'A little chap,' says she, 'wants the soft winds of Summer to whisper through his curls, to speak to his dimpled knees, and caress his little hot chin, so the fewer the better, old fellow—meaning clothes!' And even sometimes she peels off this lovely bonnet with pink rosette roses bunched above my two feathers of eyebrows and leaves my big roundy head bare to the sun and air, while she ruffles the golden down at the back of it with a soft palm. My bonnet has two streamers, two flirtation ribbons. And I am the only real 'bonnet' wearer in the lot, for a bonnet in old English and Scotch is 'a closely woven cap worn by men.'"

"My Summer millinery! Now—now—when the robins are swinging high in the cedar and the swimming hole is warming under the sun, and bare toes are aching for the little new greeny grass and to squidge along on the warm dusty road with nothing between foot-palms and mother-earth, I get out my warm-weather bonnet. I have one that is more of a favorite with my folks, but that one I only wear on Sundays—and one must please one's family some of the time!

"But this is my heart's own! Somehow it's handy and is curved to my tow head. Mother says it bends my ears down. But I dunno! It's just enough and not too much and has a friendly old curve-up in the back that lets the wind of the meadows play on my neck. And it has a flapping outer rim that is loose like a half-begun peel of an apple, and a round section on top that stands up as if achieved with a can-opener. So you can see that it is cool. And capable!

"Why a fellow can carry water in it—that is, not very far; and he can TRY to catch bees with it—almost I caught one once; and he can wear it home with the cherries in it that he swiped at the Bachelor's place—a'course if you squish it down very tight it will make your hair red; and then he can wear it in swimmin'. Some hat!"

"My hat is a lily-bell, a creamy little bell, bluish at the base and silvery at the curled-over tips. When the squirrels stretch from sleep, and the bear comes out cross and hungry, and the pussy-willows cuddle in twins up and down the branch, then I fare out under the blue Spring sky to find me a warm-weather bonnet. You see I've worn one made from the fur of dandelion-tops all Winter. And so I seek me a lovely slender bell, and looking into the little wood-tarn where the brown last-year's leaves at the bottom give me a dark-water mirror, there I pull it down over my green silk locks and lo—my bonnet! For I am a pixie from under the roots of the forest trees. And I am easily pleased."

"Over my hair," speaks Summer, smiling all the while with her sea-blue eyes and her lips as red as the Indian Paint Brush, "over my hair, because I was born free like the wind on the peaks and the spume on the sea, over my hair I wear only a slim wreath of wild roses. Other headgear would weary me!"

The Biography of a Sinner

The Little Suppers Do a Great Deal to Make an Admirer of Morton

By ANN LISLE.

Copyright, 1916, International News Service.

I had a little instinct to play my strength strongly—and I knew how flaky and rich my cake was going to be and how creamy and delicious the cocoanut marshmallow filling.

Since there wasn't a fruit dessert I started off with a fruit appetizer. There was a can of pineapple in the house and I arranged slices of this on plates and then filled in the little cavity in the centre of the pineapple with tiny balls of cream cheese, some of which I colored green and pink with fruit coloring.

Over the surface of the pineapple I laid strips of pimento like the spokes of a wheel. It was pretty and delicious, with a bit of lemon juice squeezed over it to give it tang and flavor.

On the table there were slices of cold meat and preserves and pickles. Then there was my chicken salad, garnished with hard boiled egg and beets and set in nests of lettuce leaves. Really I felt that my supper was bound to be a success if only—if only I could serve cocktails to assure myself of the bright buoyancy I had heard they brought about. I didn't want Norton to feel that it took the supper to make him forget the dull flavor of our conversation.

A WORD TO FATHER.

Of course, I didn't dare ask father for cocktails, so I suggested it to Len. I knew that request coming from Rex would be instantly taboo.

"Well, I don't think dad would serve cocktails. Vats—but Norton Gregory is pretty tony. I suppose he's used to something at his meals. I'll speak to father about some sherry."

That was how I had my first social drink. If I had known what it was going to mean to me I am sure I would have let Norton Gregory think us completely unversed in the ways of the world rather than accustom myself to drinking with men. However, I didn't guess what it would come to mean—what girl does?

I wore the white dress that had been my graduating frock and slipped two of Rex's red roses into my belt and one into my hair.

Later when Norton said, "Ah, hah—little Miss Popular, somebody's sending you mighty pretty flowers," a quick instinct made me look down shyly and then up with a challenge in my eyes as I said, casually: "They are pretty, aren't they. I love red roses."

"I'd like you to have pink ones—they look more like you, somehow," ventured Norton.

I took a step closer to him, so that he might see how soft and pink was the fluttering color in my cheeks. "Do you think I'm like—a pink rose?" I asked, almost shyly, but I managed to make my voice sound quite, quite, shy.

"Yes—and I'd like to pick that rose," began Norton. His voice took on a deeper tone—it had frightened me when Da Witt Hazen spoke to me in that strange half strangled voice men always seem to use when they are stirred. But I was not frightened now.

A GREAT SUCCESS

However, I managed an air of pretty confusion as I said, "I'll go call father and the boys." And I whispered to Rex and Len not under any circumstances to tell Norton where my flowers had come from. I could only trust that father would say nothing. I knew he couldn't understand my methods of coquetry.

The supper was a great success. Norton got into the way of dropping in for Sunday night suppers and of taking me for long drives through the snowy Winter country on Saturday afternoons.

Father never objected—but I had to be home for the evening meal. That kept Norton piqued to a strange expectancy of interest. He had something to work for, something to hope for. He wanted to have me stay out for supper with him some evening.

And he wanted also to have me take a glass of wine or a cocktail when I was having tea with him at the numerous inns scattered along the State road where he used to stop coolly for a bite in the Winter twilight.

But I never would take a "social drink" with him, though I always had my glass of wine at our Sunday night suppers. Some instinct told me that Norton Gregory liked me the better for respecting me and that he wouldn't quite respect a girl who drank with him in public places.

He used to tell me that he was very fond of me—and that I was the best little pal in the world and that he'd never known a girl who understood him as I did. But there was no word of love and he never tried to kiss me.

I remembered the way his fingers had gripped Myrn Barnes' white arm as he helped her oved the curbstones back in high school days. A feeling of resentment grew hot within me. I felt baffled, unsuccessful.

A SERIOUS PROSPECT

Spring vacation was coming, and Myra would be back again. I would lose Norton to her, I felt sure—and then there was the long Summer ahead. How would I get through that if Norton returned to his allegiance to Myra and to one cared about me?

Then, too, I knew that father would despise me as he despised all inefficient people if I let Norton slip through my fingers.

I wasn't paying much attention to Rex. I knew that he wasn't sneaking in through my window, but I more than half suspected that he was seeing a good deal of Clara Stacey, who had not gone back to Boston after her Christmas holiday.

However, I decided that as long as he managed to do his work and didn't antagonize father there was no reason why I should antagonize him by preaching at him.

I was much too deeply interested in my own affair with Norton to care particularly how Rex managed his affairs. I was determined that I wouldn't lose Norton to Myra. That they had been boy and girl sweethearts all through college did not matter to me in the least. If I could make him mine by right of conquest, so much the worse for Myra.

I don't believe I ever meant to marry Norton. I felt that as I had captured him I could win other men. Beside, his type of good looks did not appeal to me. I preferred a bolder, more dashing cavalier.

Norton was slim and of medium height. He had well chiselled features, but he was rather small and precise in appearance. He had soft brown hair, about the color of my own, and near-sighted, hazel eyes, which peered out at me rather questioningly from behind nose-glasses.

I know he wore spectacles in the bank, and I felt that he was rather owlish looking in a fairly attractive way. I, however, preferred hawks and eagles to owls.

To Be Continued Monday.

Tabloid Tales

What, Mother, is a compliment?

It is that gentle art, My Child, that if used with nicety as a handle will open any door.

When a woman begins to talk of at last having found a Kindred Soul among the other sex, what does it mean, Mother, Dear?

It means, my Child, that trouble is in sight for her, and that she likes the looks of it.

Is there such a thing, Mother, as unanimity among the women of the same household?

Yes, Child; they always agree on this: That Father's overcoat will do for another Winter.

Little Bobbie's Pa

He Says He Is Weary of Compliments

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

When Pa came home last nite he had a bunch of illacks. They was kind of wilted, but Ma sed to Pa, Oh you deer boy, it was so nice to think of me. It maiks ma think of the old days when you were courting me, Ma sed. You brought me a lot of blossoms in them days.

So I did, to be sure, sed Pa. I was always a thoutful cuss, Pa sed. Any number of guts used to tell me that, sed Pa. The poor deers wud wait kind of wistful for me to call, & thay was nevver disappointed.

That was nice of you, sed Ma. It must have took quite a lot of munny for yure florists bill in them days.

It did, sed Pa, but as you know, munny nevver meni anything to me except what I cud get for it.

I know, sed Ma. I feel a good deel that way about munny, too. How strong are you this evening? sed Ma.

I am here like a bank president, sed Pa. Here is a twenty for you & here is five for Bobbie. Put it in yure bank, Bobbie, the country may go Demmycratick, sed Pa.

You are a darling, and Ma. Ture hart is as big as the hart of a elefunt, Ma sed. No wonder you are deep chested, with that hart in you. If thare ewver was a noahleman running around without a badge on him, Ma sed, you are him.

You shud sai You are he, sed Pa. Be grammatickal, especially was you have munny.

Missus Binaka was here today, sed Ma. She wants me to join a club called The Sisters of Social Servis. She says they do a lot of good for the poor & have a swell dance every week.

Go on & join if you want to, sed Pa, if I doant have to do any dancing.

I will promis that you wont need to dance, sed Ma. I told her my husband dident care for anything litle & frivolus, like dancing & playing cards.

Did you tell her I was a deep Guy? sed Pa. I heap you did.

Yes, sed Ma. I told your great love for noliege. She says her husband is the suim way. She says he is a Scientisc & Inventor. He is cumming ewver sum nite, sed Ma. Maybe he will invent a watch for you that will always keep time, so you will know how to get hoam on skeddule.

Pa was looking at the illacks. Every time I smell them, sed Pa, it taiks me back to my boyhood in Chippewa Falls. I used to taik a bunch of them to skool every morning, sed Pa, & gave them to my teacher. She loved me immenses, Pa sed, not only for my kind hart, but for my wonderful ways of grasping things. If all the boys was like me, she used to tell me, a teacher wud feel like paying admishun to git into a skoolhouse.

Dear me, sed Ma, how nice.

Yes, sed Pa, but ween one is always getting compliments thay git stale. I never care for praise any mour.

I notis that, sed Ma, well, cum & have yure dinner.

Do You Know That—

The Indians of South America make flour or paste from bananas, and thus the banana is that part of the world, as in Africa and the East Indies, takes the place of cereals.

The black apes of Guinea have long silky hair and their fur is used for muffs and capes. During the last few years one million and seventy-five thousand skins have been shipped to Paris.

Good Housekeeping Recipes

Good food properly cooked goes far toward insuring health and long years. As much depends on the cooking, however, as on the food itself. The following recipes have been tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute, conducted by GOOD HOUSEKEEPING, and are republished here by special arrangement with that publication, the Nation's Greatest Home Magazine.

All measurements are level, standard half-pint measuring cups, tablespoons, and teaspoons are used. Sixteen level tablespoonfuls equal a half-pint. Quantities are sufficient for six people unless otherwise stated. Flour is sifted once before measuring.

Whitefish Turbot

One three-pound whitefish, 1¼ teaspoonfuls salt, ¼ teaspoonful pepper, 2 cupfuls milk, 1 cupful flour, 1 tablespoonful melted butter, 2 eggs, ½ cupful butter, ¾ cupful of dry bread crumbs, ¼ tablespoonful grated onion. Steam the fish till tender, remove the flesh from the bones, and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Scald one quart of milk and thicken with the flour dissolved in the remaining milk. Season with the onion and parsley, and then pour over the eggs beaten; add the butter in bits, whisking it in. Butter a baking dish and put in a layer of fish and then one of sauce, alternating till all is used. Cover with the bread-crumbs and bake forty-five minutes in a moderate oven.

Sponge Gingerbread

One-half cupful molasses, ¾ cupful brown sugar, ½ cupful lard, melted, 1 egg, ½ tablespoonful ginger, ½ tablespoonful soda, ½ cupful boiling water, 2½ cupfuls bread flour, 1 teaspoonful salt.

Dissolve soda in the boiling water, add to other ingredients in the order given, and bake in a dripping-pan in a quick oven for twenty minutes.

Entire Body Covered With Watery Pimples

Would Scratch Till Blood Came

Providence, R. I., Oct. 15, 1915.—"Some time ago my skin began to break out in little pimples. These filled with water, and when they opened the watery fluid ran out and spread the trouble until my entire body from my face to my feet was covered. The itching was sometimes terrible, and I would scratch until the blood came, and my skin would feel as if it were burning. I tried prescription and several kinds of salve, but none helped me. After I had suffered this way for about 14 or 15 months I tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and the first application relieved me so that I slept that night. In six weeks I was cured." (Signed) Raymond E. Madley, 630 Union Ave.

Doctors have prescribed the Resinol treatment for over twenty years. Sold by all druggists. Samples free—write to Dept. 2-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.—Advertisement.

Auto Turns Turtle.

Canaan, N. H., July 15.—A touring car owned and driven by S. B. Gilman, a prominent merchant here, turned turtle just outside the village. Herbert Brown, who was with him, received a broken wrist and a bad cut on the head.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKETS

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor

Stocks were strong in New York at the close with the tone good. A number of issues were around their high for the morning. The market had been quiet and irregular before. Attendance at the stock exchange and commission houses was light. Tennesnes Copper sold during the morning at its lowest in two years, but recovered all but a trifle of the loss. Rubber issues were strong. While Overland was a weak motor car issue. Other stocks of its class advanced. Zinc were at their highest for the week. Copper showed improvement on a close. Gains were the rule for munitions. Railroads were quiet and irregular.

Closing gains included Anaconda ⅝, Cbino ¼, Inspiration ¼, American Zinc ¼, Butte & Superior ½, Best Sugar ¼, American Smelting ⅛, Crucible Steel ⅛, American Locomotive 1⅛, Crucible Steel preferred ½, Goodrich 1⅜, U. S. Rubber 1, Lee Tire 1, Maxwell Motor 1¼, Studebaker ⅜, Mexican Petroleum ½, United Fruit ⅛, Daniel Mores & Ohio ⅝, Canadian Pacific 1, Union Pacific ⅝.

Among declines were American Can ⅛, Colorado Fuel ⅛, Industrial Alcohol ⅜, Utah Copper ⅛, Willys-Overland ⅛, U. S. Steel ⅛, Tennessee Copper ⅜, Kennecott ⅛, Southern Pacific ⅛ and Pennsylvania ⅛.

The Boston market remained strong from start to finish. Closing gains included Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies ⅛, Calumet & Hecla, Franklin ⅛, Ahmeek 3, Mass. Consolidated ¼, Mohawk ⅛, Santa Fe, Old Dominion, Utah, Quincy 1¼, U. S. Smelting ½ and United Shoe ¼.

Among declines were Gulf common ¼ and United Fruit ¼.

Trading on the Curb Curb was rather dull, with price fluctuations narrow as a rule. Strong stocks at the close were Portland and Mexican, Mojave and Majestic. Among those that closed weak were First National, National Zinc, Truro Steel and Palisade. Active issues included Fortuna, National Zinc and Mojave.

The New York bank statement shows actual conditions, that surplus reserve increased $41,563,410 to $95,109,470, while the average condition gain was $43,952,130 to $74,489,470.

At the opening in New York prices were on a little higher level, the tone being firm, with the market quite active. Demand was attributed to covering of shorts. As soon as traders had consummated week-end shifts business slackened. Among issues to show the largest early gains were Maxwell, United Fruit, Butte & Superior and American Logomotive. A number of important issues were unchanged. Underlying sentiment was considered bearish. More selling next week was predicted. On the other hand it is claimed the short interest is so large that the situation will become dangerous for operators who sell stocks for a big break. Speculation is believed by many to be profitable, while the average conditions will continue to be favorable.

Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies continues and American Zinc were the most active issues in Boston during the morning. They advanced. There was some talk that Mexican Petroleum and Texas were on a higher level, but the local market was quiet.

FINANCIAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

A local investing publication says that Wall Street saw in the advance in the rate of England rate a fresh tribute paid by London to the transient financial supremacy of New York. That advance only applies directly solely to the hardening of rates here and the desire of the English bankers to protect their balances and gold holdings against the increasing attractiveness of New York.

Frank A. Ruggles, one of the leading statisticians of Boston, has just issued the latest number of his semi-annual "pocket manual of the stock market." It is a compilation of very valuable compilation.

The Boston Financial News says: "We understand that after paying the dividend of $1 a share, recently declared, that the Boston & Albany will have a surplus of $800,000 in cash and cash assets on hand. It is also understood that the company is so far ahead that it could not be affected by a decline in the price of the metal for a long time to come."

FAIL TO SETTLE PORTLAND CAR STRIKE

Portland, Me., July 15.—Following a session which lasted far into the night a committee of conciliation today resumed negotiations with railroad officials and representatives of the trolleymen's union in an effort to settle the local street car strike. It is believed that the conference will result in at least a temporary truce pending a final settlement of the controversy.

The members of the conciliation committee, which was named by the Chamber of Commerce, are Francis C. Payson, attorney and business man; Silas B. Adams, a business man; Scott Wilson, former Attorney-General of Maine; E. J. Eddy, banker, and Edwin Stevens, architect.

This effort at settlement followed a remarkable demonstration made by strikers last night in this city and Westbrook.

More than 10,000 Portland people living on Congress street from Union station to the City Hall, cheered 700 striking carmen as they paraded from the car barns to the city council chamber after returning from Westbrook.

The parade started about 8 o'clock and ended earlier in the evening in Westbrook. Half the population of Westbrook turned out to greet the strikers and provided a band to escort them through the city.

The men made their trip to and from Westbrook in a special train. Upon the arrival in Portland, flags and cigars were given to them.

The strikers are confident of beating at the strike-breakers here the demonstrations have not taken a serious turn and it is expected that they will maintained order.

Strike sympathizers have sought to disturb the street car traffic by driving wagons upon the car tracks in front of the cars and several arrests for such offences have been made.

The strikers, themselves, do not look with favor upon such actions and many of them have been in touch with the police in trying to stop it.

St. Swithin's Day Fair; Looks Like 40 Just as Good

Today not only is St. Swithin's Day, but it began in a partial eclipse of the moon.

The significance of St. Swithin's Day is that it sets, according to legend, continuous rain or continuous fair for forty days. The old rhyme runs thus:

St. Swithin's fair, if then dost rain
For forty days it will remain,
St. Swithin's Day, if then be fair
For forty days 'twill rain no more.

The local forecast for today called for fair weather and little change in temperature. If St. Swithin and Local Forecaster Smith are both in good form we will have bright skies for forty days.

St. Swithin, Bishop of Winchester, Eng., died in 862. He asked that his body be buried outside the north wall of Winchester cathedral, where pedestrians would walk over his grave and the rain dripping from the cathedral eaves would fall on it. His body lay there until 971, when it was removed to a shrine in the church and the miracles were ascribed to 1535.

The legendary about the partial eclipse of the moon. Harvard Observatory reported, that 0.8 of the moon's disc was covered at 1 a. m. when the eclipse was at its height. It began at 10:14

Every Possible Precaution Should Be Taken to Prevent an Epidemic of Infantile Paralysis

THERE is no possible precaution too difficult or too expensive to take against the spread of infantile paralysis. It is one of the most deadly of all plagues and one of the least understood. The things which we do know about it, however, point clearly to the direction which our preventive measures should take. We do know that it originates and flourishes in those sections of the city where poverty or carelessness leaves the most dirt and the most unsanitary conditions. While it is no respecter of persons, it does like the dirty street and the unkempt child. While it makes incursions among all classes, it does not like to stay long with that "cleanliness which is next to godliness."

If we can keep ourselves and our children clean and keep our yards, our streets and houses clean, we shall do at least one of the very important things necessary to control this dangerous plague. The Boston Board of Health is doing good work. With co-operation it could do better work. The Boston Board of Health and the State Board of Health and the Boards of Health of all the cities and towns ought not to stop at anything which will be calculated to suppress this disease. They ought not to hesitate to depart from any established practice or to overleap any bounds if doing so will stamp out infantile paralysis.

Every man, woman and child ought to become a detective to discover evidence of the disease in his neighborhood and to report it to the Board of Health. The merest suspicion will warrant immediate reporting of the case, and even if ten thousand suspects should prove not to have the disease, the trouble of making the investigation would be well worth while. Undoubtedly a communication by a neighbor to the Board of Health that a certain child has suspicious symptoms will be treated confidentially by the board, and undoubtedly the board would act upon any communication, even if it were anonymous.

We none of us know when our own children will be struck down by this horrible disorder. It is today the most dangerous enemy within our gates, and we must fight it from house to house and from street to street.

To Help the Farmer Escape Usury

It Will Be Done in Spite of Ignorant Opposition

Copyright, 1916, by the Star Company.

"THE MIRAGE OF RURAL CREDIT"

The New York Times thus describes the plan to give farmers a chance to escape the clutch of usurers. The Times says: "Never before was there so much credit in this country nor the access to it easier for deserving and solvent borrowers."

That sounds like the remark of Mr. David Warfield when he acted with Weber & Fields, "There is a pleurisy of money, go and get it."

There is indeed plenty of credit for certain classes of "deserving and solvent borrowers." For instance, a man engaged in stock gambling, or the agent who acts as his broker, can borrow all the money he wants, and at a very low rate of interest.

The very bank that lends money for stock gambling at three per cent. or less lends money to the perfectly solvent and deserving business man at five and six per cent.

And as for the country borrower, he is very fortunate if he escapes with a payment of eight per cent—he is fortunate also if he makes his loan without crawling in on his hands and knees to get it.

We suppose that the Times considers the American farmer deserving and often solvent in spite of railroads, trusts, combinations, produce gamblers, etc. The Times can find out if it chooses what the farmer has to pay for money, what sort of commissions are often asked in addition to the highest legal rate of interest.

The Times can also learn that in the city the business of usury has been reduced to a fine point. The borrower pays as big a commission as anybody dare charge. In addition he pays a commission, sometimes to a lawyer, sometimes to a real estate agent.

Even the railroads of the United States, thanks largely to their criminal financing and general stupidity, are made victims of usury. For it is nothing less than usury to take from the railroads a promise to pay one hundred dollars, give the railroad ninety dollars in cash for its one hundred dollar promise to pay, and charge six per cent. on a hundred.

Rural credit is not a "mirage."

Control of railroad rates was once a mirage, but it exists now, as a beginning at least.

Cheaper gas in Boston and other cities was once another "mirage." But the gas was made cheaper.

Rural credit, free from usury, will come. And when it does come, those that lend the money will be more contented and more prosperous, and the Times will be found praising the new system after damning it, just as various eminent authorities are found praising the Federal Bank Reserve system after having said it would send the country to the dogs.

The farmers who feed the nation are not to remain forever crippled in their efforts through lack of reasonable credit or victimized by respectable little local banking loan sharks.

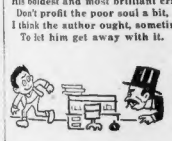
More Truth Than Poetry

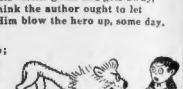
By James J. Montague

Suggested Alterations

THE movie burglar takes a chance;
In order that we may be thrilled,
And feel the grip of real romance,
He often gets severely killed.
His boldest and most brilliant crimes
Don't profit the poor soul a bit,
I think the author ought, sometimes,
To let him get away with it.



THE movie villain labors hard
And risks his neck with stoic calm
To catch the hero off his guard
And decimate him with a bomb,
But always are his schemes upset,
His victim grins and gets away,
I think the author ought to let
Him blow the hero up, some day.



THE movie lion does his part
Extremely well for one so dumb;
He snaps at folks with all his heart,
But never gets a single crumb.
And with a raging appetite
All night he has to pace his den.
I think they ought to let him bite
The hero's leg off, now and then.

Somebody Is Wrong

Bryan begins complaining that he is misunderstood just as the rest of the country is becoming convinced that it understands him at least.

The Nemesis

Admiral Peary has withdrawn his candidacy for the Senatorship from Maine. Has old Doc Cook been threatening to run against him?

Falling Market

Magazine editors do not seem to be falling over each other this year in the rush to buy Connie Mack's articles on how to build a pennant winning team.

Chance for Progressive Leaders

Who will officer the rest of that brigade after the Roosevelt children and grand-children have all been supplied with commissions?

Volatile People, Those Mexicans.

He will be the Cursed Chief before the war is over.

Produce, Luther

If Luther Burbank has really developed an edible cactus, now is the time to prove it.

A Few Exceptions

Mr. Wilson says that force never accomplished anything permanent. Yet all the people who have been killed by force are permanently dead.

It Would Mean Still More Self-Sacrifice.

Could the Colonel enlist under the Commander-in-Chief of the Army and take orders from a Byzantine Logothete?

A Minority Demonstration.

If, as the colored troopers say, it was only the civil population of Mexicans that proved hostile, the movement couldn't have been very extensive.

How the Heat Strikes Us

By Woods Hutchinson, M. D.

The World's Best Known Writer on Medical Subjects

A GOOD share of our morbid dread of hot weather is unfounded. We talk with bated breath of the danger of sunstroke and go about in terror of it every time the thermometer rises into the nineties, just as we retail lurid tales of people killed by lightning, and pull the bed covers up over our heads in every midnight thunderstorm. Both sunstroke and lightning strokes are real perils, but the actual risks of our dying by either are just about equal—and that's less than one in a million.

The milder forms, however, of heat depression and heat prostration are much more common, and though fortunately seldom dangerous, are very distressing and disabling while they last. For many years we were puzzled to know just how these prostrating and disabling effects of heat were brought about. It did not appear to be the mere heat itself, for healthy, vigorous students and athletes, who volunteered for the experiment, could be exposed in artificially heated chambers to most astounding degrees of heat for hours at a time without any disabling or prostrating results. Besides which workers in various industries, such as blast furnaces, smelters and the furnace rooms of great engines, could work all day long when the temperature was far above that of the hottest Summer day, if they were supplied with a current of air and plenty of water to drink.

Our first clue was gained from the fact that the great majority of cases of fatal heat prostration or sunstroke occurred in individuals who were either suffering from some acute infection like malaria, typhoid or pneumonia, or from some chronic intoxication like Bright's disease, lead poisoning or alcoholism. If you know yourself to be free from these conditions, you can feel fairly safe from death by sunstroke.

The next step was the discovery that those who were living in ill ventilated rooms, or drinking polluted water or eating spoiled or contaminated milk or other foods suffered much more frequently and severely from heat prostrations in sultry weather.

From this it was only a step to the conclusion that excessive heat produces its injurious effects partly by interfering with the elimination and neutralization of poisons already present in the body, and partly by promoting the formation of poisons in the body tissues themselves, even comparatively healthy ones. Part, for instance, of the extreme illness and depression produced by an extensive burn is due to the cooking and burning effects of the heat upon the healthy tissues, producing poisonous products from their breaking down.

It is literally possible to be "born tired," as Lauder Brunton pointed out some years ago, in the sense that a comparatively moderate and trivial amount of exertion will find our tissues with fatigue toxins utterly beyond our powers of neutralization, so that we are compelled to stop and rest until the balance has been restored.

These heat sufferers are not shamming or trying to dodge disagreeable duties; work done under pressure in this self-poisoned condition will be badly and slowly done, with risk of the piling up of the auto-toxins until a serious prostration results which may take weeks to recover from. Work in the house, in the shops, stores and offices should be reduced during hot spells to the minimum absolutely essential to life and health and keeping the social machine running at lowest feasible speed.

Then sit and work and sleep in a draft, if you can find one; drink plenty—that is—quarts of pure, cool water, eat what your appetite calls for, of sound, fresh, wholesome foods, particularly fruits and vegetables, milk, butter and cream, especially ice cream; spend two to four hours every evening in the open air, and the dangers of the heat will be pretty nearly reduced to its immediate distresses and discomforts, which will leave no permanent marks.

The Light That Lies in Woman's Eyes

Will Also Light Upon Stories of Huge FEMININE INTEREST in Tomorrow's Sunday AMERICAN—Advance Fall Fashions—Babies—One Girl Who Would NOT Be a War Bride.

Sir Walter Scott must have been right if the women of Boston and New England do not like the reading program offered by the AMERICAN tomorrow.

The Scottish poet mentioned women as "uncertain, coy and hard to please." They must be that and more if they are not pleased by a Sunday edition which verily seems to be shaping for their particular interest.

It may sound impossible but it is a fact that Lady Duff-Gordon (the famous Lucile) is able to devote her color page tomorrow to "THE FIRST FALL FASHIONS FROM PARIS." True, this is only July 15, but Lucile writes:

"July is not too early to consider the modes of Autumn."

Then she goes ahead with pictures and text. Why, on skirts alone she says:

"First, it is apparent that skirts will not—"

Will not what? Not be voluminous—not be scant—or what?

Ah, that would be telling in advance.

You can readily see, Madam, from this hint alone that Lucile is writing clearly and to the point. Men may not grasp the importance of July information on Fall fashions, but every woman will realize it.

A beautiful Parisian girl refused to be "a breeder of cannon-food." She was engaged to an English aviator. She would not become his war bride. For this "unpatriotic" stand she was condemned by family and friends until finally she was moved to fierce outburst in self-defence.

Her plea in her own behalf is one of the greatest human documents the AMERICAN ever had the fortune to publish. It begins:

"Be a war bride? Never! I would rather pit my strength in bloody battle than run the risk of rearing a fatherless child."

Frankly the girl discusses the war-bride problem. Her powerful argument, with pictures of herself and her fiance, occupies a full page tomorrow.

Another angle of the many-sided "Baby" topic.

Mrs. Robert Bruce Liggett of Duluth said a number of things against motherhood. She declared no baby was worth its mother's sufferings and that unless women could be relieved of the primal curse there would be no justification for matrimony.

Mrs. Liggett stirred up a tremendous rumpus, naturally.

Now Dr. Woods Hutchinson, in tomorrow's paper, points out fallacies in Mrs. Liggett's argument. Dr. Hutchinson writes under the subject: "The Kind of Women Who Ought to Have Babies."

The medical writer allows much justice for Mrs. Liggett's position. But he attacks her assertions vigorously in several particulars.

The Liggett argument of the "lower type of female," which is "incapable of suffering" during childbirth, engages Dr. Hutchinson's particular attention.

It is an absorbing discussion of a vital topic.

A little point to interest engaged girls—Is your diamond genuine?

Horrors, the very idea!

But just suppose?

The AMERICAN tomorrow will have a handy article on "How to Recognize Real Diamonds." You might read it. And, if you wish to be sure—of course, you are sure—but in case—why, you might try some of these diamond tests on the ring HE slipped on your finger.

Mrs. Wilson Woodrow, the clever American novelist, has written a two-page article for tomorrow's readers, showing: "How the War Has Taught Women to Wear Men's Clothes." Apt pictures accompany this striking story. Women milkmaids, press operators, letter carriers, lamplighters—all in trousers—American women learning to imitate them—emancipation in sight—freedom from the skirt.

It is an able article and a lively prophecy, all in one, and mighty important to women.

"The Real Secret of Ethel Barrymore's Success" will appeal to all, of course, to men as well as women.

Another subject to hold a woman's eye—"How to Make the Expressive Back Beautiful." This is Number Four in Doraldina's series on the back. It treats particularly of unguents and lotions that will help rid the back of its impurities.

Are you fat, Madam, or lazy? Impertinent? Not a bit. Merely interested. If you are, you should read Mme. Lina Cavalieri's list of Summer exercises for these conditions.

It used to be the sea serpent, a Summertime myth. Now it is the shark, but a menace and no myth. The AMERICAN will publish tomorrow, in addition to the latest news about shark raids, an authoritative discussion of this finny terror by an expert.

Bandits and autoists have found "Wash" James, the police chief of Hingham, a hard nut to crack. But "Wash" has a tender spot. Read a cheerful tale tomorrow about W. James, his soft side.

The demolition of an old Boston playhouse, training school of many a later star, is a dramatic bit for Sunday reading.

Remember Leona E. Garmong and the famous $75,000 love verdict which she MAY get? There is a NEW Garmong story now, vivid, colorful, absorbing.

Does your doctor tell you the truth? A Boston physician warns his colleagues in tomorrow's paper: "Don't Lie to Your Patients." Anything to do with doctors hits most of us.

Pages of news about OUR BOYS along the Mexican border, of course. That goes without saying.
